Fuel Tanks of Diesel Engines Explode; Six Crewmen Killed

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Six crewmen burned to death today in a fiery collision of two heavy freight trains at a diamond track crossing. A seventh crew man escaped.

The State Highway Patrol reported four bodies were taken from diesel engine units of the two trains. Two bodies still were pinned in the wreckage.

The crash shook houses nearby in Sterling, where the Erie Lackawanna Railroad line crossed tracks of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

The four-diesel unit of the B&O, pulling 107 freight cars, was moving slowly into the track intersection when the Erie four-diesel unit collided with it. Chester Winkler, fire chief at Sterling, which is 31 miles southwest of Cleveland, was awakened by the crash, less than 200 feet from his house.

Saw Flames

"I looked out and saw flames shooting 100 to 150 feet in the air," he said. The chief said there were four or five explosions and "I figured I couldn't get my men close for a while." It was several hours before the fire was controlled.

The only survivor of the engine crews was Clyde H. Masters, 54, of Marion, Ohio, an Erie brakeman. He was thrown clear.

"I heard a crash, and the next thing I knew I was flying through the air," Masters said. He told patrolmen he had gone to the trailing unit of the engine because of a problem with the radio.

Six Killed

Killed were Erie engineer Donald Narney, 42, and brakeman Carl Porter, both of Marion and these B&O crewmen: engineer Carl R. Duckworth, brakeman F. C. Cruschel, fireman G. S. Williams, all of New Castle, Pa., and a 6th man, not immediately identified.

Two men in the Erie caboose escaped injury. They were identified as Fred Vestal and N. G. Tyson, both of Marion.

An Erie-Lackawanna spokesman said the Erie train, which was westbound, was traveling "at normal speed, which would be about 50 miles per hour in that area."

Electronic signals control traffic at the intersection, and the spokesman said the signals are interlocking, so that when one train has the go-ahead signal the other has a stop signal. The highway patrol was investigating to see what caused the crash.

The collision was at a junction where tracks of the two railroads cross in a diamond pattern after being nearly parallel. Trains moving in opposite directions on the tracks meet nearly head on.

Lines Blocked
The spokesman said both main lines were blocked and it probably will be 24 hours before the tracks could be cleared. Traffic was being re-routed via New York Central tracks.

Cars were piled up three deep by the collision, and some wires were brought down along the right of way.

Japan, U. S. Diplomatic Talks Tuesday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Japanese Premier Eisaku Sato is to begin talks in Washington Tuesday on Japan's relations with Communist China and the U.S. tax on investments overseas.

The 63-year-old premier arrived in San Francisco Sunday. He was due in Washington at 5:45 p.m. EST today and will confer Tuesday and Wednesday with President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

On Thursday he is scheduled to meet with U.N. Secretary-General U Thant in New York.

At a news conference in San Francisco, Sato said he saw no conflict between Japan's conducting trade with Communist China and the U.S. policy barring trade.

Sato termed the U.S. position "a rigid one" and told newsmen Japan and Red China conduct trade only because they were close neighbors.

The premier, who took over the post when Ailing Hayato resigned last November, said he would not be able to decide whether to change Japan's trade policy with Peking until after his discussions with Johnson.

Scores of Ships Stranded As Workers Strike Ports

Flames Shot Nearly 200 feet in the air early today after two freight trains collided at Sterling, Ohio, near Akron. The grinding crash killed five trainmen and injured a sixth. A seventh was missing, apparently trapped in the tangled wreckage. The two locomotives came together at a track crossing, apparently when one was unable to stop for a signal. Fire broke out when fuel tanks ruptured. (AP Wirephoto)

Union Members Object to Clause Providing for Slow Reduction of Dock Gangs

NEW YORK (AP) — The 60,000-member longshoremen's union struck ports from Maine to Texas at 12:01 a.m. today.

Objections among rank-and-file union members in New York to a clause in a proposed new contract providing for a gradual reduction in work gangs apparently triggered the strike.

The walkout, in effect, is a resumption of the one-day walkout last Oct. 1 when the work contract expired. At that time, President Johnson invoked the Taft-Hartley Act and a federal court injunction sent the men back to work during an 80-day cooling-off period. The government's injunctive power now is exhausted.

Presidential Action
The White House gave no indication of any presidential action in the new strike. Informed sources in Washington said President Johnson probably would act only if it appeared there would be an immediate crippling of the national economy.

Extra longshoremen were employed in New York and several other ports at weekend overtime.

Contract Rejection
Union President Thomas W. Gleason said he was "shocked" by the contract rejection in the port of New York in a union membership vote last Friday.

Huge Air Force Plane Crashes; 6 Men Aboard

Craft Falls Into Ocean on Takeoff From Wake Island

HONOLULU (AP) — A huge U.S. Air Force cargo plane capable of lifting 50 tons plunged into the Pacific Ocean less than a minute after takeoff from Wake Island Sunday. No trace could be found of its six-man crew.

The Cargomaster exploded and burned as it hit the water about a mile east of Wake. Control tower officials said the takeoff had appeared normal as the four-engine aircraft left the runway.

Federal Aviation Agency observers in the tower saw the explosion and dispatched crash boats to the scene. Darkness hampered the search. After daylight, about five hours after the crash, searchers found debris on the water but no trace of survivors or bodies.

Crew Listed
Aboard the Dover (Del.) Air Force Base plane were:

Capt. Arthur F. Wiegand, 30, Clearwater, Fla., the aircraft commander; Maj. Herman D. Stephan, 44, Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, Canada, copilot; 1st Lt. Jon B. Parker, 24, Silver Spring, Md.; T. Sgt. James O. Smith, 29, Elmira, N.Y.; S. Sgt. Anthony Panzarella, 36, Queens, N.Y., and S. Sgt. James Gold, 34, Squantum, Mass.

Gleason Reynolds

pay rates to speed passenger and cargo ships to sea before the strike deadline. More than 20 ships left the port of New York Sunday.

Scores of ships were stranded in various ports, however.

The strike resulted primarily from the action of New York members of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association in rejecting the proposed contract with the New York Shipping Association. Agreements reached between the I.L.A. and the association, which represents 145 shipping and stevedoring companies, traditionally set the pattern for contracts in N.Y. and other ports. There also were

Red China Calls for Remolding of U. N.

TOKYO (AP) — The sharpness of Communist China's denunciations of the United Nations in connection with Indonesia's withdrawal raises a question.

Is Peking hinting it will refuse to join the United Nations even if the invitation comes on Communist China's terms?

There are indications that Peking still has its eyes on U.N. membership but may raise new demands to boost its prestige among the African and Asian nations.

Charter Amendments
The Red Chinese may call for amendments to the 20-year-old U.N. Charter to benefit the African and Asian countries admitted to the world organization since 1945.

In a government statement Sunday, the Red Chinese declared the United Nations needs to be "thoroughly remolded." Peking claimed the organization had become a tool of the United States.

But Peking did not suggest how it should be changed. In their attacks on the organization the Chinese Reds were careful not to offend the new African and Asian nations who are prime targets in Peking's communization drives.

The Chinese statement said that "it is fully understandable that newly independent Asian and African countries have placed hopes in the United Nations." But it added that "blind faith in the United Nations must be liquidated."

'Two Chinas'
Communist China has repeatedly claimed the United Nations needs it more than it needs that body. It has said it will join only on its terms.

Defector Says U.A.R. People Tired of Nasser

Conditions Are Impossible Under 'A Police State'

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — An Egyptian who claims he defected from the United Arab Republic's secret police told a news conference today the people of the U.A.R. are tired of President Gamal Abdel Nasser and are "terribly annoyed at the U.S. backing of his regime."

Abdul Ghadir Owdeh entered Iran Jan. 2 and said he was assigned to agitate against Iran's pro-Western government in the Persian Gulf area.

He told newsmen he had found living conditions under Nasser's "police state" impossible.

He said his father, a leader of the Moslem Brotherhood, was executed by the Nasser regime in 1954.

After serving in the army, Owdeh said he joined the secret police, which he said was a force of 100,000 men.

Torturing Force
Owdeh claimed that Nasser's regime spends $1.5 million a day on the "torturing police force."

He asked that Iranian authorities use their influence to prevent Nasser torturing his six brothers and his ailing mother who still are in Cairo. Owdeh was granted political asylum in Iran.

He claimed that Nasser sells food aid received from the United States and uses the funds for military and sabotage purposes.

The majority of people in Egypt condemn the United States for supporting Nasser, he asserted. He claimed that the raid on the U.S. Information Agency library in Cairo on Nov. 26 was ordered by Nasser to placate his people and attempt to demonstrate that he was not supported by the U.S. government. The raid was blamed on Congolese and other African students protesting against the U.S.-Belgian rescue operation in the Congo.

Dictionaries Dies

OXFORD, England (AP) — Dr. Charles Talbot Onions, 91, distinguished British philologist who helped complete the Oxford English Dictionary, has died in a hospital here, it was announced today.

Onions worked on dictionaries for nearly 70 years. He spent 30 years compiling an etymological dictionary, tracing the derivation of words, and had worked at it until recently. One modern word which baffled him was "beatnik."

"I have not been able to find out what a beatnik is," he said. "I don't know its origin. I should like to see a satisfactory definition, otherwise the word is best left alone."

Two Renamed to Conservation Unit

Veterans' Terms Up 2 Years Ago, Former Appointees Unconfirmed

MADISON — Gov. Warren Knowles today restored to full stature as members of the state conservation commission two Republican hold-over veterans of that body who withstood a two-year effort by a previous Democratic administration to dismiss them.

The governor announced the reappointment of Guido Rahr of Manitowoc, dean of the commission and now its chairman, and Charles F. Smith of Wausau, to six-year terms.

Technically their terms had expired two years ago, but they were legally entitled to continue serving because the Republican state senate repeatedly had declined to confirm, and thereby seat, the choices of Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds during his single term as state executive.

Rahr has served longer as a member of the commission, and longer as its chairman, than any other man in its history spanning four decades. Smith has served only a few years less.

Armed with what it says is a confession, the Justice Department will go before a 23-member federal grand jury here.

The Justice Department rests much of its case on a written statement it claims it obtained from Doyle Barnett of Cullen, La.

Another Statement
However, there was a report — said to have come from government sources — that other evidence also includes a statement from another man. The FBI would neither confirm or deny this.

"I'm afraid I'm going to have to give you a no comment on that one," said Roy Moore, special agent in charge of the Jackson FBI office.

Charges against 21 men arrested in the June 21 killing — including Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey and Chief Deputy Cecil Price — were dropped after a Dec. 10 preliminary hearing in Meridian.

U.S. Commissioner Esther Carter declined to admit testimony by an FBI agent on an alleged confession.

Johnson Is Faced With Many World Troubles

BY SPENCER DAVIS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Although a nuclear war is not on the horizon in 1965, a world filled with trouble spots and problem areas confronts President Johnson at the start of his first elected term.

Dangers abroad affecting U.S. national interests and demanding White House attention fall into two categories — the pressing immediate crises labeled extremely dangerous and secondly, the slower-fused but potentially explosive questions which could erupt at any time.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk in a year-end appraisal called South Viet Nam and the Congo the two most immediate and most dangerous situations "which need and will get our continuing attention." There were at least 10 more of varying magnitude and urgency.

Among the more pressing problems before Johnson were these:

Pressing Problems
SOUTH VIET NAM: The bloody jungle guerrilla war with the Communist Viet Cong could expand into a much larger conflict involving North Viet Nam and Communist China in direct confrontation with U.S. power. Or it could bring a collapse of the fragile South Viet Nam government that could lead to a U.S. defeat and withdrawal with disastrous consequences in Southeast Asia, the Far East and around the world.

At the year end, the United States was seeking unity of leadership that would make possible a Saigon government which could function without the threat of a military veto. There were some signs the civilian-

Congo Situation
CONGO: The situation was threatening due to outside intervention. A direct East-West clash could result plunging much of Africa into the cold war. The United States did not consider its assistance to the Congo government over a five-year period as intervention, but took quite another view of the furnishing of arms illegally to the rebels by Communist China, the United Arab Republic and Algeria.

This brought new strains in relations with the U.A.R. and Algeria and heightened tension with Peking. The United States sought to persuade Premier Moise Tshombe to accept a cease-fire with the rebels. But it was rejected by Leopoldville. The United States also advised the Congo government to broaden its base by admitting non-rebel opposition elements including former Premier Cyrille Adoula. The image of Tshombe was bad among many other African leaders. The chances for a solution appeared bleak.

CYPRUS: Although there was a lull in fighting, the unresolved issue of the Turkish minority produced grave concern because it had sharply divided Greece and Turkey and thus weakened the NATO alliance. Here were hopes a form of peaceful coexistence could be worked out among the rival island factions. But there were no guarantees that the shooting would not erupt again. The U.N. peacekeeping force on the Mediterranean island was due to be withdrawn in March.

Latin America: Cuba tended to lessen as a hemisphere problem as it felt an economic pinch. The potential trouble spots remained, however, with Colombia and Venezuela both facing internal political problems. There were still commitments in Ecuador and Bolivia. While Panama was presently quiet, canal negotiations and the Jan 9 anniversary of last year's riot could bring renewed tension. Haiti and the Dominican Republic were other areas of potential difficulty.

INDONESIA-MALAYSIA: President Sukarno's year-end decision to pull Indonesia out of the United Nations coupled with renewed threats to crush Malaysia produced a new round of tension in war-jittery Southeast Asia. It brought a stiffening of British, Australian and New Zealand determination to help defend the federation and a warning of hot pursuit if retaliatory action becomes necessary. U.S. officials viewed the long-range implications of Sukarno's decision as both complex and serious. The United States is not directly involved but under the ANZUS defense alliance, the United States is pledged to aid both Australian and New Zealand troops if they come under attack of sufficient substance to invoke the treaty provisions. The United States has made clear that its sympathies are with Malaysia but regard it as a primary British defense commitment. Sentiment was likely to mount in Congress for military and economic aid to Malaysia if Sukarno steps up the tempo of his attacks on the Malaysian mainland, but so long as possible, the U.S. government hoped to avoid a final break in relations with Jakarta.

COMMUNIST CHINA: Peking received a psychological boost from its first nuclear explosion last Oct. 17. A reasonably rapid test program in 1966 could give the Chinese Communists a sustained lift. No big changes were foreseen in Peking's contacts with the Soviet Union over the next year or two. They were expected to remain strained.

Peking was encouraged by the success of its diplomatic campaign in Africa but this could bring difficulties when Africans ask what the Red Chinese are going to do for them in the form of aid.

Atlantic Alliance
ATLANTIC ALLIANCE: The machinery of NATO was in need of close attention over organizational problems. In recognition of new British proposals, the multilateral force received a new name, Atlantic Nuclear Force ANF. The ANF would include the V bombers and Polaris submarines as well as the American-favored surface fleet of about 25 vessels manned by American, British and German and other personnel. Some form of mixed-man surface fleet was expected to emerge during the year, despite controversy within NATO over the proposal.

GERMAN REUNIFICATION: Rusk listed the need as most urgent to find a permanent, peaceful and satisfactory settlement of the German question. It could open the door to far-reaching disarmament measures and relieve burdens now placed on both East and West Europe and the United States. But progress in this direction would be slow. There were no indications of Soviet readiness to consider a reunified Germany, nor were the French warm to the idea.

SOVIET UNION: The most powerful U.S. foe appeared to be speaking the same language of peaceful coexistence that it had under Soviet Premier Khrushchev. But the new Kremlin leaders seemed to be increasingly preoccupied with domestic issues. The United States did not anticipate Soviet initiatives which would either relax the cold war or heat it up.

LATIN AMERICA: Cuba tended to lessen as a hemisphere problem as it felt an economic pinch. The potential trouble spots remained, however, with Colombia and Venezuela both facing internal political problems. There were still commitments in Ecuador and Bolivia. While Panama was presently quiet, canal negotiations and the Jan 9 anniversary of last year's riot could bring renewed tension. Haiti and the Dominican Republic were other areas of potential difficulty.

INDONESIA-MALAYSIA: President Sukarno's year-end decision to pull Indonesia out of the United Nations coupled with renewed threats to crush Malaysia produced a new round of tension in war-jittery Southeast Asia. It brought a stiffening of British, Australian and New Zealand determination to help defend the federation and a warning of hot pursuit if retaliatory action becomes necessary. U.S. officials viewed the long-range implications of Sukarno's decision as both complex and serious. The United States is not directly involved but under the ANZUS defense alliance, the United States is pledged to aid both Australian and New Zealand troops if they come under attack of sufficient substance to invoke the treaty provisions. The United States has made clear that its sympathies are with Malaysia but regard it as a primary British defense commitment. Sentiment was likely to mount in Congress for military and economic aid to Malaysia if Sukarno steps up the tempo of his attacks on the Malaysian mainland, but so long as possible, the U.S. government hoped to avoid a final break in relations with Jakarta.

Amendments to Marketing Order Called Unfair

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Melvin Laird, R-Wis., asked the Department of Agriculture Saturday to set back for at least 30 days the deadline for voting on proposed amendments to the Chicago milk marketing order which he termed discriminatory to Wisconsin farmers.

The deadline on voting is Monday night but the Marshfield congressman said the delay would permit the department to reopen hearings on the amended order.

"The Secretary of Agriculture has been given some bad information as to the effect of the amendments on the Wisconsin farmer," said Laird.

Laird said he had been notified Saturday morning that the department would not grant a delay but he said he had not given up hope that "something might still be done" if enough people are apprised of the situation.

Lovely Lady

By Bill Kreil
HEALTHY AND FREE SWINGING

What's ahead? More dynamic, moving, natural hairstyles than ever before, according to the trend makers. In addition, never before in the history of hair styling has there been so much variety. There are a few common denominators underlying all the new coils of the season. First, the quality of the hair itself — shiny, healthy and bouncy — is of paramount importance. Secondly, curves are soft and free-swinging, following the natural contour of the head.

Why not have a good permanent to keep your current coil attractive all day and through the other five days. Exclusively Yours, 507 West College Avenue, Appleton. Regent 3-4409. 123 Main Street, Little Chute. Sterling 8-2975.

but I must confess I'm anxious for her to grow a little bigger.
Right now she's exactly my size and all of my clothes fit her perfectly. Since she gets up earlier than I do, some parts of my wardrobe are missing when I start to dress.
One of my sweaters just happens to go perfectly with the skirt Gay is wearing that day. Or one of my skirts is the ideal accompaniment for one of Gay's sweaters. She even manages to borrow one of my skirts plus one of my sweaters at the same time by persuading me that her popularity, her grades, her psyche, her status with her peer group and her ability to conjugate in French will all suffer horribly if she isn't allowed to wear the outfit.

Borrows Summer Items
I got a beautiful pair of royal blue shorts last summer and was lucky enough to run across some canvas sneakers in exactly the same shade. Fall came along before I had a chance to wear them more than once, and about that time Gay got a plaid skirt with just that tone of blue in it. Even I have to admit it's a perfect match, but I hope I'll reinherit what's left of the shoes by next summer.
It's only fair to report that Gay is generous about sharing her things with me. The trouble is I don't often need hairbows, anklets, knee socks and sweat shirts.

Blouses are fair game for my young clothesnapper, and so are my slacks, raincoat, jackets and any gloves that happen to go with what she is wearing. She has her own supply of stockings, but emergencies seem to develop regularly when mine are the only runless ones in the house.
Sophisticated Dress
So far my dresses are a little too sophisticated for her and I hope they'll stay that way until she outgrows them. And I've managed to keep her out of my high heels too. That issue is pretty well settled now, because her feet have suddenly surpassed mine by half a size.

Come to think of it, could that be why she bought me size 7 black sneakers as a gift recently, when I take a 6½? She said the store was out of the smaller size, but I wonder. Her black sneakers are getting a little shabby.

BABY SITTER IS GEM

Dear Louise: We have a gem of a baby sitter whom our three children adore. She is 16. She refuses to accept any money which amounts to about $10 a month. She says she enjoys the peace and quiet of our house. She is the oldest of five children and says our children behave so well. She will have a birthday next month and we wonder what we can do. I inquired of her mother who said that she needs nothing and at this point, I need some suggestions. My husband feels we should give her some money in an envelope with a birthday card. In this way, she could buy something very special that she wants and wouldn't have otherwise.

Louise Davis Answers:
Indeed you do have a gem of a baby sitter. You can't help but have an obligation either with a gift or money. I suggest that you stretch your imagination and try to dream up some exciting but useful extravagance that the girl would never think of getting for herself, yet would cherish. Jewelry, such as a bracelet can always give a girl a thrill. Had you thought of a wrist watch? A government bond is another suggestion. If you aren't enthusiastic about these ideas, your husband's suggestion of money is a good one. In that case, you would want new currency and with it a thoughtful note asking her to please get herself something from you that she would love to have for her very own self. I am certain that she wouldn't put up any kind of argument and am also sure you wouldn't destroy her pleasure of giving her time for baby sitting.

Lead Paste Helps Fill Wood Crack

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: We have storage cupboards in our utility room. These have plywood doors which have developed cracks. What can I use to fill the cracks? I want to be sure the surface is smooth when I enamel the doors.

A: You can fill the cracks with white lead paste thinned to the consistency of a thick cream. When the filler has become dry and hard, smooth by rubbing with "000" sandpaper and wipe off the dust.

Q: Lime deposits are apparently clogging the water supply pipes to our tub and shower. The water just barely trickles out. We have no trouble with water pressure anywhere else in the house. How can this be remedied?

A: Sorry, but the only remedy is replacement of the faulty pipes. The cheapest replacement is with copper tubing which is flexible enough to be pulled up through the walls, alongside the old pipes which can be left where they are. This eliminates the cost of breaking into walls and floors for replacement. I recommend having a water-softening unit installed.

Q: We plan to convert part of our basement area into a recreation or family room. How can we make the room soundproof?

A: Noise is always a problem in basement rooms, because of usually low ceilings, hard wall and ceiling surfaces which reflect sound waves. Installing acoustical material on the ceiling eliminates as much as one-

Shainwold Play Like a Banker if You Fear

My bank manager plays bridge as though the state examiner were standing behind him. The results are not inspiring: a bridge player must be willing to take a chance now and then.

Xavier Band Parents Set Winter Dance

The Band Parents of Xavier High School have planned a mid-winter dance for adults from 9 p.m. to midnight Jan. 16 in the Xavier Commons. A dixieland combo and the Xavier Stage Band will play for dancing. The proceeds will be used by Xavier's Fine Arts Department to help defray the expenses of the band if it should win the national tape recording contest of the National Catholic Music Educators' Association. The group would then travel to Philadelphia, Pa., to play at the organization's convention. For the past two years, the Xavier wind ensemble has won this contest.

Mr. and Mrs. John Barta are general chairmen. Tickets are available at the Xavier office, from band parents or at the door.

When this hand came along last November in the Team Trials, it separated the bankers from the bridge players. The bankers bid only two spades at the second turn with the South hand. North passed, and these players missed game. The bridge players jumped to three spades and reached game.

Which bid is "correct"? It depends on what you want out of life.

If you want to tell your grandchildren that you played bridge for fifty years and never once made a bid that went down, you bid two spades on this kind of hand. If you want to tell your grandchildren how you made your first million, you jump to three spades.

Careful Play

Kelsey Petterson and Ivan Erdos were among the experts who got to game with the North-South cards. Appropriately enough, they will be members of the team that will represent North America in the 1965 World Championships.

Petterson took his two top diamonds and led the king of spades to drive out the ace. West returned a heart to the ace. Petterson then led a club to dummy's ace, discarded a heart on the queen of diamonds, and led another trump.

This careful line of play guaranteed the contract unless the player with three trumps had started with only two small clubs. In his case he would be able to get a club ruff in the actual hand, Petterson easily made his game.

It's important to remember that the jump to three spades is only invitational. If North has a light hand for his notrump response he can pass three spades. It pays to be optimistic when you have a strong trump suit; save your pessimism for the scrawny trump suits.

Fashions Exhibited by the Embla Mink Breeders Association Saturday for the New York Couture Groupe were a coat in Morning Light, a natural blue beige, with detachable ruffle that comes off at the hem, leaving a jacket; a white bridal gown with a mink bodice over a jeweled satin skirt, a mink headpiece and blue mink orchids, and a jacket in the Morning Light, natural blue beige again, only 22 inches in length and styled in a chevron pattern. ## Be in the 'Pink' With Mink

BY JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
NEW YORK (AP) — If you are thinking mink this spring, think pink mink.

It's this year's ultimate in status symbols, mink breeders told the visiting press Friday on the closing day of the New York Couture Group's week-long preview of fashion.

A mad fad for mink toothbrushes, eyelashes, beer can openers and aprons has tended in recent years to reduce the traditional luxury pelt to a too-common denominator. The industry made a big bid for more snob appeal last year with green mink that cost a lot of cabbage that color.

The skin of a single green mink — not dyed but born that way — cost several hundred dollars each and on the auction block a full length coat of them amounted to nearly $20,000.

The pink mink, still being pampered in their air-conditioned pens in the Northwest, will not go to market until next month. But since only one in four generations has the recessive gene for the blushing hue and only one in 256 kits is true to color in the first cross, they are expected to bring prices many times higher than their green cousins.

To determine how old your neighbor's mink coat is, study the direction of the pelts. If they are horizontal the coat is less than two years old, but if vertical with a flare from the shoulders it can be up to six years.

Sometimes they run both ways in a chevron pattern.

Long and short coats, jackets and capelets in the show were elegant examples. There was practicality in a long mink coat, edged at the hem with a detachable ruffle. One zip, and the ruffle was off, leaving a jacket.

For an impressive start in marriage was a white mink bridal gown consisting of mink bodice over jeweled satin skirt, mink headpiece and blue mink orchids. The blue minks were dyed, not bred, for the occasion.

Nat Kaplan's and Larry Alldrich's spring collections shown earlier contained most of the style trends touted throughout the week.

Long jackets, full skirts, skimmer dresses, navy with flashes of white, double-breasted effects, silk prints, duplicating chiffon prints, tunic dresses, belts and beltlessness, low-

New Sewing Machines Aid Creative Art

By varying stitching and tension and using threads of different thickness it's possible to do unusual embroidered wall hangings with an ordinary sewing machine. Using the sewing machine for free lines of stitching to create interesting patterns turns this machine into a creative art tool according to Agatha Norton, related arts instructor at the University of Wisconsin.

Holding heavier yarns in place with a cording foot, using applique techniques and back-grounding with a felt point pen are other ways to add interest to straight stitching.

When putting free stitching lines on a textile it takes some means of holding fabrics firm and straight on grain. In student experiments they back their designs with felt, pelt and even layers of newspaper. For transparent fabrics they apply spray starch.

Others hold fabrics in place with an embroidery hoop. With firm fabrics like upholstery necked crepe, dinner gowns with midcalf hems and black lace over nude pink made up the show.

Parrots Know What They Say, Says Owner of One Old Bird

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You may know something about love but you don't know anything about parrots. When you said in your column recently that parrots imitate sounds and have no idea what they are saying, you revealed your ignorance.

Our parrot is a Panama Redhead. She is about 45 years old. We call her Polly Walker. Polly came to the U.S.A. with the last boat load of soldiers in 1919, through the Panama Canal. She belonged to our neighbors. When they moved out of town they gave Polly to us and she is like a member of the family.

Four years after the neighbors left Polly with us they came back to visit. When Polly saw them walk through the door she said, "Hello, Bobbie. Where's the whiskey?"

We had a party line for many years and Polly knew which party got how many rings. She'd shriek, "Get it, Mrs.

Harrison" or "Get it, Mother Platt."

Polly calls all our children by name and she is especially amused by my sister-in-law. When my sister-in-law comes over Polly laughs so loudly I have to cover her cage with a sheet so she'll shut up.

Just to let you know I am not imagining this, Ann, I am enclosing two of Polly's feathers. Aren't they beautiful? —Mrs. E. W.

Dear Mrs. E.W.: Thanks for a delightful letter and for those two beautiful feathers. I am wearing them in my hair today and this office is up for grabs.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We've been married 18 months and expect our first baby soon. I am writing about my husband who is a transvestite, which means he enjoys dressing in women's clothes, using make-up, a wig, jewelry and other feminine frills.

He does this only when we are alone and swears nobody knows about it but me.

My husband is a loving, considerate person, a good provider and he wants a family. Our sex life is very satisfactory. Nobody would guess in a million years that this masculine appearing man enjoys dressing in women's clothes.

I've researched the subject of transvestitism in the public library and found surprisingly little information. I did learn, however, that transvestites are not active homosexuals. They desire only to dress like women and apparently the compulsion is seldom cured.

I don't mind when he does this so long as he keeps it private, which he has promised to do. In fact, I feel closer to him because I am helping him with his problem by allowing him to behave without inhibition at home rather than behind my back.

What I would like to know is this: Do you believe we can continue to have a good marriage, or will my husband eventually want to be with other transvestites and perhaps break up our home? — Worried

Dear Worried: You say you have researched the subject. If you have, you know that transvestites not only enjoy dressing up in women's attire but they also enjoy showing others how pretty they are.

Since you've accepted your husband's deviation and provide him with the audience he needs there's a good chance he'll keep his dress parades within the home walls.

Under the conditions you describe, your marriage could be a lasting one. I hope, however, you will urge your husband to seek professional help. While the chances are slim, he just might be straightened around.

Awkward and self-conscious? Unsure of yourself? Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

UW Musician To Conduct AHS Clinic

Madison Junior High Is Workshop Site For Students Friday

A workshop for vocal department students of Appleton High School and selected junior high school students will be conducted by Prof. Dale Gilbert, University of Wisconsin School of Music, at Madison Junior High School from 1 to 3 p.m. Friday.

It is part of a series of clinics and workshops for public school music students being sponsored this year by the Appleton Public Schools Music Parents organization. They are designed to broaden the experience of the students in music and allow them to work with an outstanding person in the area of music in which they are interested.

Gilbert, a member of the UW music staff since 1955, was elected department chairman in 1964. Prior positions included being vice-president at the Custom Recording Studio of Evanston, Ill., and choir director and vocal instructor at Doane College, Crete, Neb. His music degrees were earned at Northwestern University.

He is noted in Wisconsin for his concerts with the UW Opera Ensemble and for his singing of Don Magnifico in the UW touring Opera production of Rossini's "Cinderella" during the 1963-64 school year. He is an oratorio soloist and has sung lead roles in "Elijah," "The Messiah," and "Requiem."

The music clinics are sponsored by the Appleton Music Parents organization which obtains its money through fund-raising projects during the year.

Wallet Owned by Man Killed in Accident Located in Belongings

A wallet belonging to Ben E. Schacher, 55, of Antigo, who was killed in a highway crash on State 45 Friday night, has been found among the man's personal possessions, county police said today.

A search by relatives in Antigo of the man's suitcase, which he had in the car, produced the wallet. At first it was believed the wallet may have been taken from the scene of the accident. Preliminary identification of the dead man was made by a checkbook with the name Ben E. Schacher printed on it.

County police searched the crash scene and the wrecked vehicle Friday without success. Relatives in Antigo reported finding the wallet Sunday.

Expect Light Day at County Board Session

Outagamie County supervisors so far have indicated an easy day of legislating Tuesday at the first board session of 1965.

Chairman Alvin Fulcer said that only routine business is expected and that to his knowledge, no special resolutions have been prepared for discussion.

Stated are several wage adjustments and further discussion on the disposal of the Outagamie County farm personal property. The farm disposal has been in the hands of the 11-man committee for study since last fall.

County Clerk Miss Mollie Pfeiffer said she did not think the 11-man committee was prepared to discuss the issue at the Tuesday meeting. Miss Pfeiffer said it is quite possible that resolutions will be submitted for discussion during the board session.

Cave-In Might Have Happened Here, Says City Works Director

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"It might have happened in Appleton... but thank God and our inspectors... it didn't."

Sheriff Hits at Teen Drinking, Urges New Uniform Age Limit

Advocates 'Higher Than 18' Law; to Appear on TV Program

Outagamie County Sheriff Calvin Spice took a one-punch cut at teen-age drinking today and plans to follow it with a second blow on Fox Valley television Thursday night.

Spice, who said he entered office two years ago believing teen-age beer drinking did not have to be regulated above 18-years-of age, said today he will be preaching for a uniform beer drinking age "higher than 18" when he appears Thursday on a Channel 11 (WLUK-TV) panel discussion on teen-age drinking.

With Spice will be Robert Marotz, legal counsel for the State Brewers' Association, and Assemblyman Earl McCessey, of Fond du Lac.

Spice's one punch attack at teen-age beer bars came today after he was asked by a Town of Freedom beer bar owner to "fire" a special deputy working there.

Joseph Ludwig, of Ludwig's Lanes, Freedom, a beer bar and dance hall, complained Sunday night to Spice that the deputy,

Roy Knott, was overstepping his duties by requesting patrons as old as 25 years of age to leave.

Spice today talked with Knott who said he had requested patrons "who did not appear old enough and were without identification cards to leave." Spice said Knott would be on duty again at the beer bar "if there is a request for a deputy."

Deputies are provided for beer bars at the request of the tavern operator, but are assigned by the sheriff. Pay of $1.50

St. Elizabeth Volunteers Get Briefing

$1.2 Million Fund For Hospital, Medical Center Under Way

(Pictures on B-2)

Volunteer workers in the house-to-house campaign to raise $1.2 million for St. Elizabeth Hospital and Medical Center received their final briefing on the need for the building program Sunday, and then set out to spread the word to their Fox Valley neighbors.

Workers began making calls after attending an open house rally in Xavier High School from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday and making their own pledges there.

E. Patrick Toal, a member of the hospital's lay advisory board and one of the campaign leaders, spoke on the $7.3 million building program and its importance to the Fox Cities community, repeating his message as new groups of workers came in.

Rally Turnout

Hundreds of the 4,000 volunteers attended the rally. "We were quite happy with the turnout," said William H. Pifer, campaign coordinator.

Also at the rally were John Hayes, campaign chairman; John Lally and Jack MacDonald, co-chairmen of the house-to-house canvass, and Harold Adams and Gus Zuehlke, lay advisory board members.

Elm Tree Bakery donated the doughnuts, Karras Caterers the coffee and Tuttle Press the trays and napkins for the rally.

In Person

Most families in Appleton, Menasha, Kimberly, Little Chute, Combined Locks, Kaukauna and the towns of Grand Chute, Menasha, Buchanan and Harrison will be solicited in person. In some other areas served by St. Elizabeth, the solicitation will be by mail.

It is hoped the house-to-house canvass will be completed this week. Campaign headquarters will be making follow-up calls to the volunteer workers throughout the week.

St. Joseph Choirs First of Kind to be At State Conclave

The St. Joseph Catholic Church men's and boys' choirs of Appleton set a first in the history of the state music convention when they performed there in the Madison Saturday. Richard Wolf of the University of Wisconsin Extension Division, convention chairman, said it was the first time a group of this type had appeared at the convention.

The choirs were very enthusiastically received, according to Director Francis Scholtz. Among those offering congratulations was UW Bandmaster Ray Dvorak.

After performing at the morning convention session, the choir toured the UW carillon tower and the state capitol. The university had arranged to have the carillon performer play for the choirs.

About 20 men and 25 boys from the two choirs made the trip to Madison. The convention was sponsored jointly by the UW Extension Division Music Department, the Wisconsin Music Educators Conference and the State Department of Public Instruction

Expansion Project in Appleton Concentrated in Clinic Addition

Construction work in the St. Elizabeth Hospital building program currently is being concentrated on the new east clinic wing, the first area scheduled for completion.

The clinic wing now is completely closed in except for windows and doors. This wing is expected to be ready for occupancy about Sept. 1, and the new south wing is expected to be completed about Dec. 1.

Brick masonry work on the five-story south wing, has gone around the wing. It is expected this wing will be enclosed in about eight weeks.

The first of two new boilers has been installed and will be in use as soon as inspections are completed.

Completed Work

In the clinic area, brick masonry work was finished in mid-November and roofing is almost completed. On the first floor masons now are doing the glazed tile partition work. Door frames have been placed, plumbing is stubbed up to the proper level and electrical lines are being brought in. The pneumatic tube system stations are installed and much of the tubing is being set in place.

In the clinic basement, 70 per cent of the unglazed tile partition work is completed and 40 per cent of the plumbing and steamfitting work is finished. Electrical conduits are in place. Decisions have been reached on the morgue equipment and orders placed for delivery about July 1.

Workmen are breaking in from the east wing to the present main building at this spring of 1967.

basement level. From there they will bring in water lines and steam lines and stub off sewer lines.

The clinic wing will receive heat from the new boiler in five to 20 days.

Insurance Inspection

The first new boiler is installed and factory inspected, and had its insurance inspection Thursday. It can be put on the line after inspection reports are approved and received.

For the balance of the winter the old coal burner will be maintained as a standby heat source while use of the new system is being started. The coal burner will have a banked fire for about 10 days while the new boiler is first in use. The coal burner will be removed in March and the second new boiler will be installed in early April.

The last of the deck pouring on the new south wing was completed on the last day of 1964. Work on this wing is 30 days ahead of schedule.

Decisions have been made on the type of X-ray equipment to be installed in the clinic wing and orders have been placed, with delivery about July 1. A supplier for laboratory equipment has been selected and asked to submit a quotation within 30 days.

After the two new wings are completed, the present convent building to the north of the main building will be razed and a new wing built there, and the main building and present chapel building will be completely renovated.

Completion of the entire $7.3 million program is expected in the spring of 1967.

per hour is provided by the tavern operator.

Spice said Knott has been on duty at the Freedom tavern since he relieved the former deputy of duty following a four-death automobile accident in Brown County. Investigation showed that two of the persons killed were under 18 years of age and had been in the tavern prior to the accident. At the time, Spice was critical of his own deputies and said he would relieve them of duty if he found they were not doing their jobs properly.

Charges were filed against the tavern agent, Melvin Ludwig, soon after the investigation was completed. The case is still pending.

Spice said he is supporting motor vehicle department authorities who are proposing tighter restrictions on teen-age drinking and driving. He said he would support a restricted license for teen-age drivers for daylight hours, and would recommend that teen-age bars be "off limits" at least for patrons who are still registered in high school.

The car you see on this page is the proud recipient of the hardest won award in the automobile business.

In selecting Mercury for 1965, Car Life Magazine stated, "Mercury shows a quality of concept, design and engineering far above the ordinary."

Wide press acclaim. The New York Times called Mercury "the surprise hit of 1965 in the

Soo Line Railroad Passenger Trains Will End Service

NEENAH-MENASHA — Passenger service on Soo Line Railroad trains, which have served the Twin Cities for most of the 20th Century, will be permanently discontinued Friday after trains 3 and 4 have made their runs.

Discontinuance of the passenger service will not affect the nearly 100 Soo Line Railroad employees who work in this area according to Clifford Leary, local agent.

For approximately the last 20 years the Soo Line has experienced substantial losses in the operation of passenger service, the railroad said. Jan. 4 the Interstate Commerce Commission granted permission for the Soo Line to discontinue passenger service on Train 3 operating from Chicago to Superior and Train 4 which operated from Superior to Chicago. The certificate and order also granted permission to discontinue passenger service on trains 5 and 6 between Owen and St. Paul, Minn.

No Service

There will be no passenger service from Neenah on the Soo Line Railroad after Train No. 2, leaves at 12:55 a.m., Friday, for Superior and Train No. 4, leaves at 1:40 a.m., Friday, for Chicago, the Soo Line announced Jan. 8.

Each of these two trains have carried an average of 12 cars on their daily runs, including mail, baggage and passenger cars and have been operated by two engineers, two brakemen, two baggage men and one conductor.

The passenger run between Chicago and Superior served 13 communities on a regular basis, plus seven flagstops and six conditional stops. # Oshkosh Councilman Criticizes Discussion 'Gag' on Employees

OSHKOSH — A reported "gag" of city employees prohibiting them from talking to council members about city business came in for criticism today from councilman Robert Putzer.

Putzer said that behind this "gag" was a statement by City Manager Ray E. Harbaugh accusing two city employees of violating the city's purchasing ordinance regarding the renting of equipment for use in a landfill project at Red Arrow Park near the city's swimming pool and high school.

Councilman Putzer stated today that last Monday he investigated a purported rumor concerning the equipment rental and was advised at the city hall that the city was not renting any equipment. On Tuesday, after further investigation, he found that the city was renting equipment.

Discussed Matter

Putzer continued that at Wednesday night's council meeting he discussed this with the city manager during a recess and outside of the council chambers and was advised that a directive was being issued to all city department heads and division heads regarding violation of the city purchasing ordinance but that no names would be used until after further investigation.

Putzer also said the city manager told him that there were no rental charges included among the bills being approved at the council meeting.

Putzer declared that he learned on Thursday that there were rental charges among those bills and the manager issued a statement to the Oshkosh newspaper accusing City Finance Director Orville A. Gartman and Sanitation Supt. Frank Reischl of violating the city purchasing ordinance.

Harbaugh's statement accused Reischl of violating the ordinance through renting the equipment. The ordinance provides that bids shall be taken on all services such as equipment rentals that might exceed $1,000 for the entire job. Gartman was criticized by the city manager in that statement for having approved the bill for payment.

Higher Authority

Putzer said that through his own investigation it appears

Oshkosh Group Plans Greater Port Promotion

Citizens Committee Will Try to Expand Membership to Back Use of County Airport

OSHKOSH — Expanding airport entrance and signs along the highway advising motorists where to turn off for the airport also was discussed but no action taken.

The committee also reviewed the replies from other airports as to landing fees charged for private aircraft using the airport. It will recommend to the county board that no action be taken at this time to establish a landing fee for private aircraft since the other airports in the state do not make such charges.

Kelly said the citizens group is interested in enlarging the committee to help promote general aviation use at the airport and to secure on the committee those who make a living from general aviation.

He said he felt the citizens committee could be effective in this area since the field of general aviation has a great potential.

Thern, head of an architectural and engineering firm, said there is not much private aircraft at the Winnebago County Airport for the facilities that are available. The more users the more revenue for the field, he added.

Kelly said the citizens committee is trying to create more economic opportunities for the area by having a better climate and promotion of general aviation. He added that the city's industrial park could be coordinated with the airport development.

Airport manager Steve Wittmann suggested that an active pilots club, such as the Fond du Lac County Airport has, might be one step in expanding the general aviation use of the airport.

Kelly was advised that the parking lot lighting was scheduled for installation during the week of Jan. 18 and would increase the intensity of the lights to three times their present brightness.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — The remnants of the latest Indonesian invaders of Malaysia were believed trying to get back home as security forces continued to search for them on the beaches of the southern mainland.

Four fishing boats were reported stolen at the seaside town of Pontian Kechil in Johore State, near the spot where the party of 24 landed Friday. Eleven were still at large.

Thirteen of the invaders, including a major who led them, have been captured. Indonesian guerrillas have been landing on the Malaysian mainland in small groups since last August.

Rally to Defense of Shipyard

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP) — Reaction was swift to a congressional investigating committee's criticism of the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard in a report on the lost nuclear submarine Thresher.

Public officials and labor leaders rallied to the defense of the yard, where the ill-fated Thresher was built. They said the joint committee report, disclosed Saturday night, unfairly gave the shipyard, the oldest in the nation, "a black eye."

Capt. William Hushing, shipyard commander, scheduled a special news briefing today to "clarify and amplify" the congressional report.

129 Dead
The Thresher sank with the loss of 129 lives some 220 miles off Cape Cod on April 10, 1963, while making a deep dive test.

The congressional report said practices and standards in some of the Thresher's construction were "short of those required" for safe operation.

The report narrowed the criticism to pipe joints on the submarine and the manner in which they were connected. Haste in building the attack submarine and faulty workmanship also were suggested as contributing causes for the sinking.

A forward by the committee chairman, Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., said "the more conventional aspects of the submarine and its safety devices were not keeping pace with the more stringent performance requirements of greater endurance, higher speed and deeper submergence (in a nuclear submarine)."

The report by 7th grad to 26 The report by the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy touched off a storm of protest.

An aide to New Hampshire Gov. John King termed the report "a black eye for Portsmouth."

A labor official at the Shipyard said the Portsmouth yard is "still the best in the country." He flatly denied faulty workmanship.

Sen. Thomas McIntyre, D-N.H., said he thinks the committee was looking for "a fall guy."

"And I don't buy the idea," McIntyre said.

Past History

Thomas Power, executive secretary to King, said: "This is past history. An investigation was made and the report says things were bad. But now there's a new commandant at Portsmouth and there are new and dramatic changes in the working methods."

The joint committee based its findings on previously secret testimony which included that of Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, called the "father of the atomic submarine."

Rickover said if a spot check of pipe joints in the non-nuclear part of the Thresher was "representative of all the Thresher's silver-brazed joints, this means the ship had several hundred substandard joints when she last went to sea."

Rickover also said several submarines, both nuclear and conventional, "came close to being lost" in recent years because of design and workmanship defects and faulty inspection procedures.

Six Republican Senators Propose Alternate Aged Health Care Plan

BY DON CARSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six Republican senators are drawing up a health care plan for the aged which Sen. Leverett Saltonstall says would cover some doctors' fees, going beyond the measure proposed by President Johnson.

The senators' alternative program came on the heels of one proposed in Chicago on Saturday by the American Medical Association. The AMA, long a foe of plans for Social Security medical care for the aged, also said its version would be broader than the administration's plan.

A third alternative is in the works, according to House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford. He said Saturday in an interview that Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee would unveil a proposal in the near future. Ford said work has not been completed on it.

Social Security

The administration measure would be administered by Social Security and financed by a separate payroll tax.

Saltonstall, a Massachusetts Republican, said the proposal he and his five colleagues would introduce Tuesday would include some doctors' fees and drugs outside the hospital and thus go beyond the administration measure which includes hospitalization, nursing home care, home health visits and outpatient hospital diagnostic services — but no medical or surgical bills.

The GOP senators' program would be financed from general Treasury revenues plus contributions from the states and individuals participating rather than through a pay roll tax.

AMA Plan

The AMA plan also would side-step Social Security, being financed with federal and state funds plus individual contributions according to need. It would be joined to the existing Kerr-Mills health care program with the states handling administration rather than the federal government. The insurance would be written by private companies.

AMA President Dr. Donovan F. Ward said this would provide

Two-thirds of the Rock Island common shares outstanding was needed for approval.

After the vote was announced, Jervis Langdon Jr., board chairman of the Rock Island, and Frank E. Barnett, vice president and general counsel of the UP, said they would put the merger before the ICC for approval.

Some Body Odors Are Difficult to Control

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am a woman of 57 and suffer from body odors over which I have no control.

I bathe once and sometimes twice a day. We are in comfortable circumstances and I have adequate changes of clothing and sufficient dry cleaning. I have used medicated soaps and deodorants of all kinds without success.

The odor is not perspiration but a sort of stale, musty one which permeates all my clothing after a few wearings, even my coats.

Is there a physical reason for this — E.W.W.

Soap and water is the answer to this problem in most cases, but in someone who takes the pains that you do, and the trouble persists, it is time to look for some of the less obvious answers.

Fresh perspiration from the sweat glands is odorless. But there is another type of gland (called the apocrine) which secretes a milky, odoriferous fluid. Their degree of activity varies quite markedly in some individuals.

There have been cases in which these glands, located chiefly in the armpit, have been removed. It is a relatively simple procedure, but should be discussed with a dermatologist or plastic surgeon.

Another source of odor is spray from micro-organisms which flourish on the skin and in the moisture of perspiration. The odor is from these multiplying organisms, not from the perspiration. Where one takes as much trouble as you do with hygiene, this is not a likely cause, however.

Finally, a musty odor can be due to a skin disorder called tinea versicolor, a common and mild infection of the skin. To rule this out (or to correct it if it is present), consult a dermatologist. He may even find some other skin condition of which you are unaware.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband tells me I have been reading too much Rachel Carson lately but we have regularly sprayed fruit trees in our garden with a pesticide containing malathion. We have two pet chickens that are permitted to roam the garden. They eat bugs, roots and sometimes grass around the trees. Is it possible for the

Is spray to be washed off the trees onto things consumed by the birds, and passed on into the eggs?

If I am being too cautious, I should appreciate knowing it the eggs are piling up and so is my husband's temper. — N.G.S.

Miss Carson called attention to a matter which deserves (and is getting) attention: The question of what long-term effects may result from continued use of new chemicals.

She got listeners by overstating the case. Perhaps she was justified in that sense. But she also frightened a lot of people who thought that "what might happen" is the same as "what is happening." Your chickens are evidently healthy, so eat the eggs. Wash fruit from your trees — but that's routine anyway. Stop worrying about the eggs, and get your husband's temper back to normal.

In his head but is otherwise blond, could he have had two fathers? This is an important question for me. — M.L.S.

No. It is physiologically impossible. Once an ovum has been fertilized, it rejects any further sperm. True, it can develop twins, but that is a different matter. A seed planted in the ground can sprout only once — even though some plants may have more than one stalk. There's your answer. You can stop worrying now.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Post-Crescent for the booklet, "Ear Noises: Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with you request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Snow Disrupts Air Travel in Northeast U. S.

Schools Closed, Roads Dangerous Along Seaboard

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Heavy snowstorms swirled through the Northeast Sunday, disrupting air travel and endangering highway traffic. Officials announced schools would be closed today in many areas.

Virginia's first major storm of the season dumped a foot of snow in the northern and western parts of the state, closing schools in five counties.

In West Virginia, three persons were killed on icy U.S. 460 near Princeton and driving conditions throughout much of the state were hazardous. From two to six inches of snow blanketed the western and southern sections of the state and nine inches was recorded in Martinsburg in the Eastern Panhandle.

Snow Plans
To the north, special snow plans were put into effect in the Philadelphia area, where a swirling snowstorm left 5 to 12 inches, slowing air traffic at the Philadelphia International Airport. The Harrisburg-York airport was closed all day.

Near Ebensburg, Pa., a Greyhound bus swerved off a snow-covered highway ramp, plunging down a 30-foot embankment into a small stream. Ten persons were hospitalized and nine others were treated and released.

Gov. William W. Scranton was forced by bad weather to cancel a scheduled appearance at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in Harrisburg.

In Maryland
The Washington, D.C., area struggled under 4 to 8 inches of snow and emergency plans were set in motion in nearby Baltimore and 19 Maryland counties.

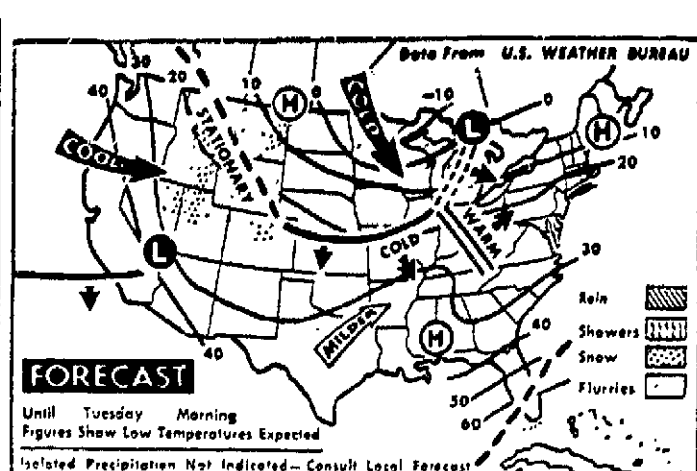

Heavy snows in the New York City area forced cancellation or diverted more than 300 flights at Kennedy International Airport, although operations were not shut down. Inbound transatlantic flights temporarily were rerouted to Boston and Montreal.

Vehicles without chains or snow tires were banned from major arterial routes in New York. Five inches of snow fell in midtown Manhattan and eight inches covered some suburbs.

New Jersey had up to 8 inches of snow and a 3-year-old boy was killed in a weather-connected accident.

Upstate New York got by with just flurries and bitter cold temperatures.

The northern New England ski areas, suffering from a lack of snow, also was by-passed, but

Snow Showers and Flurries are expected Monday night from the northern and central Rockies to the upper Lakes. Temperatures will be colder from the northern Rockies to the upper Mississippi and milder from the far west to the Great Lakes area. (AP Wire-photo Map)

University of Utah Postman Member of Campus Sorority

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — At the University of Utah's Delta Delta Delta sorority house, the postman didn't ring twice.

He didn't ring at all. He was a member. Arthur M. Aamodt, campus mail carrier the past 15 years, had another distinction — he is an honorary doctor of letters. The university administration conferred the title on him in 1958.

"Dr." Aamodt — as he's known around the university — explained how he joined the sorority: "I'd been on campus for several years and I thought I should get into some social life. Part of my route was the Pan-the southern section of the six-state area received heavy amount.

Snowstorms also struck several other widely separated areas of the nation.

In northeast Arkansas, wet snow knocked out electric and telephone service for more than 5,000 customers and a repairman was killed by a live wire.

Eight inches of snow fell in central and northern Idaho, but most roads were expected to remain open.

High Winds
High winds kicked up old snow, closing two sections of U.S. 89 east of Glacier National Park in Montana.

The Midwest had generally dry weather, but temperatures plunged below freezing over the weekend and dropped as low as 31 degrees below zero in Hibbing, Minn. One woman died near Virginia, Minn., when she tried to walk home in 30-degree below cold when her car went off a road.

Northwestern California still was suffering from the consequences of torrential floods of the past few weeks. Officials estimated earth slides and washouts there caused $60 million damage to roads and bridges.

Johnson Shapes New Picture Of Himself

Each President Conveys Personal Spirit and Vision

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — "A president," the man said, "does not shape a new and personal vision of America. He collects from the scattered hopes of the American past."

Since the man saying this was President Johnson in his State of the Union message, it gives insight into his pulling together about 50 proposals with varied but broad appeal.

But while a president may not always shape a new and personal vision of America, he never fails to shape a new and personal vision of himself for the public. He can't help it.

Peculiar Spirit
Each president, often despite himself, conveys that indefinable thing called the spirit of the man peculiar to him alone because of the thousand forces that went into making him.

It could be anything, or a combination of things, from wisdom or the lack of it and energy or torpidity to emotionalism, belligerence, decisiveness, grace, charm, style of eloquence.

After his 13 months in the White House, what makes Johnson peculiarly Johnson is still a little veiled. He has played his cards close.

Reveal Little
By events, or the lack of them, he has had to reveal little of himself. Critical foreign decisions have not been necessary, while at home he has been passionately bent on peace if possible.

Yet, he is unlike any of his four immediate predecessors: Presidents John F. Kennedy, Dwight D. Eisenhower, Harry S. Truman or Franklin D. Roosevelt.

If he can be said to have patterned himself even a little after any of them it would be Roosevelt. For example, in the effort to build up an image of himself is now.

as a doer and a man of concern and compassion.
But Johnson, an awkward speaker with little apparent sense of tone or drama in the English language, lacks Roosevelt's charm, his warmth and his eloquence.

Truman was such a far-seeing and decisive man in foreign affairs that his actions there place him high among the presidents. But at home his cocky aggressiveness was often self-defeating.

Johnson has had no problems like Truman's yet.
He is the complete opposite of Eisenhower with this one exception: in the presidency, Eisenhower made a career of trying not to offend anyone. It helped maintain his popularity but his presidency might have been more effective if he had.

Has Been Corry
Johnson does not have Kennedy's style — at times he has been corny — but he seems infinitely a better fighter, one in a far more quiet one in going about getting what he wants.

Because he is a one-man show, insisting he pass upon every detail, it is plain he has determined to put his own stamp on the presidency. The question is what kind.

If he could continue four years as he has been going — piling one success on another without inflicting visible bruises — he would probably be remembered as the first truly professional manager in the White House.

In the White House, where leadership is essential, a manager might never be enough.

But crises are bound to confront him and frustrations infuriate him. The way he handles them will almost certainly leave in the national mind a final vision of the spirit of the man quite different from whatever it is now.

throws cut the spread to one but at the 41-second mark, sophomore Mike Gage connected on an 8-footer for a 56-53 St. Mary edge.

Kim Vanderhyden notched a free throw at the 17-second juncture and Gary Wisneski scored on a breakaway at the horn for a final spread of six points. Pennings missed three free throws in the last 27 seconds.

The Zephyrs had been inept most of the first half and trailed, 12-6, at the quarter and by 11 points midway through the second frame.

However, with the press doing its job, the hosts hit six of the last eight points of the half, all by Heroux, to trail, 28-21, at the intermission.

Scoring seven baskets plus eight free throws in 10 at-tempts, the Menashans came on "like Gangbusters" in the third segment and finally caught their guests at 38-37 on a Kettenhoven basket with 1:30 left.

They also added the next five points to claim a 43-37 advantage going into the final eight minutes.

Squires Lead

In the first 5:28 of the last quarter, Pennings outscored their hosts, 13-6, to gain the 49 lead. All six points were made by Vanderhyden. However, a 10-3 edge the rest of the way put the game into the St. Mary victory column.

Heroux's 21 points, achieved on seven baskets and as many free throws, took scoring honors. Vanderhyden hit 13 and Kettenhoven hogged 12. Dan Golden made 14 for the Norberts. Collins had 13.

Unofficially, St. Mary made 33 per cent of its field goal tries, on 22 of 66. It started with a 2 of 16 in the first period but canned 6 of 12 in the fourth.

Pennings was successful 20 times in 55 attempts. St. Mary enjoyed a good day from the free throw line, sinking 15 of 21. Pennings was barely over the 500 mark with 13 of 25. After a 7 of 8 first half, it fell to 7 of 18 in the last two frames and had nine misses in the fourth.

They'll Do It Every Time

The Marine lieutenant from Kansas came from the back of the pack and relative obscurity in Tokyo last October to become the first American to win the Olympic 10,000-meter race.

Saturday night against a stellar field, Mills went from wire to wire and captured the mile in 4:08.1 at the San Francisco Invitational indoor track meet at the Cow Palace.

Mills had to kick to stay in front of Great Britain's Alan Simpson. Third and fourth were sub-four minute millers Cary Weisiger of North Carolina and Archie San Romani of Oregon. Mills' first indoor mile was almost as fast as his outdoor best of 4:05.5.

His upset victory was typical of the performances at the invitational.

Boston Beaten

Ralph Boston, owner of the best broad jump of all time, was beaten by Gayle Hopkins, an Arizona who owns the third best broad jump mark in history. Hopkins jumped 25-6 and Boston 25-4 1/4.

Boston finished second to Blaine Lindgren of the Utah Track Club in the 60-yard hurly. Lindgren was timed in 7.2, Boston in 7.3. Boston also was beaten in the triple jump, with Darrell Horn going 50-10 to Boston's 48-2 1/4.

Only double winner was Pasadena's Bill Toomey. He won the 440 in 50.2 ahead of Tokyo's 400-meter champ, Mike Larrabee of Los Angeles and Mike Yerman, "like Gangbusters" in the third segment and finally caught their guests at 38-37 on a Kettenhoven basket with 1:30 left.

Harney Leads LA Open Meet

Dan Sikes Two Strokes Off, Going Into Final Round

BY BOB MYERS

Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A sudden death playoff will be in order in the event of a tie after Monday's final round of the $70,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament.

But among the disbelievers in such suicidal procedures are, in order, Paul Harney, Dan Sikes, Bill Casper, Jr., professional golfers all, to list a few.

Each thinks he can win the $12,000 top pot without benefit of extra holes.

As play began on the par 36-36-71 Rancho Municipal course, the front-runners with their 54-hole totals were:

Harney, 207; Sikes, 209; Casper and Howie Johnson, 210; Bobby Nichols, 211, and to skip a few brackets, Tony Lema, 213; Arnold Palmer, 215, and Ken Venturi, 217.

Mass Affair
Obviously Palmer and Venturi would be in favor of sudden death, but it would have to be a mass affair.

The 35-year-old Harney, from Sacramento, Calif., scored a repeat performance, only better. A year ago lanky Paul came from behind to take the lead in the third round by one stroke and went on to win.

This time he has two shots on the crowd.

Casper and Sikes, 34, from Ponte Vedra, Fla., started Sunday's round at 138, with Harney at 139.

Harney shot 33-35-68; Sikes 38-33-71. Casper 37-35-72, and Johnson 36-33-69 to pose an additional threat.

Casper said he had three putts which stopped 1/2 an inch from dropping in. "I'm due for a couple of them," Casper observed.

Sikes, with a double bogey six on the fourth hole where he hit out of bounds, shot 38-33-71, called his a Dr. Jekyll-Mr. Hyde round.

Goose Tatum Breaks Leg; Fans Think It's Part of Act

HOUSTON (AP) — Goose Tatum was recovering from a broken leg today, his first major injury in 25 years of professional basketball.

He was injured Saturday night in the closing minutes of a game with the New York Olympians. He had scored 50 points and led the Road Kings to an 87-59 victory.

"It was kind of a freak accident," he said. "I went up for a shot and a guy on the other team came by me and his knee hit me on the right leg and the bone snapped in two places."

The breaks were between the knee and the ankle.

Dr. Nathan Cotlar, Houston physician who serves as team doctor each year the Goose plays here, said the zany basketball whiz should be out of action for six to eight weeks.

More than 500 fans visited Tatum at St. Joseph's Hospital and caused the posting of a "no visitors" sign.

Most of the 8,000 spectators thought it was another of his zany antics when he fell to the floor.

"They just laughed," he said. "When they carried me off they thought I would come back on the floor for another entrance with another gimmick."

"But after the game was over, all the fans came back to where I was waiting for an ambulance."

"And I got the biggest hand I ever got when they found out I was hurt."

Ken Hubbs Memorial Trophy, honoring Banks for his conduct on and off the field.

It was the first presentation of the award named for the Chicago Cub second baseman killed in a plane crash one year ago.

AFL Negroes Walk Out of All-Star Game

were refused service by taxicabs. Some said they even had trouble getting to their hotels from the airport because cabs refused to take them.

Before the Negroes made their final decision to pull out, Dixon told a newsmen:

"If they walk out, this blows pro football for New Orleans."

Striving for Franchise
Dixon has been striving for four years to gain a franchise for New Orleans — either in the AFL or the rival National Football League.

Only the West squad turned up for the first practice session Sunday.

At first, there was a report that all the uniforms hadn't arrived and the practice had been delayed for a day.

But Sid Gillman, coach of the San Diego Chargers and head of the West All-Stars, said it wasn't true.

"We're having trouble," Gillman said. "The Negro players have threatened to quit. They had some trouble with the cab drivers and in the French Quarter."

There were 20 Negroes on the All-Star squad.

The 21st Negro, Dick Westmoreland, a defensive halfback for the San Diego Chargers, was here as an alternate member of the West team. He would have played only if one of the regular squad members was hurt before the game.

Another Negro, Matt Snell of the New York Jets, had been scheduled to come here as an alternate but had to go into the Army.

"Several people shouted insults at us in the French Quarter," Westmoreland said. "Doors were shut in our faces when we tried to enter several establishments."

He said he was accompanied by teammates Ernie Ladd and Earl Faison from the Chargers. "Here I was with big men ... Ladd's 320 pounds and little guys were hurling insults, but we didn't want any trouble," Westmoreland continued.

"I was worried because Ladd and Faison have tempers. I suggested we return to the hotel and they agreed. But we couldn't get a cab to stop for us. Finally, we got directions and walked back to our hotel."

Westmoreland and the other West team players were staying at the Roosevelt Hotel, about six blocks from the heart of the French Quarter.

Ernie Warlick, end for the Buffalo Bills, acted as spokesman for the Negro players.

He said they met Sunday to compare notes on their treatment in New Orleans and then voted on the walkout.

"The vote wasn't unanimous," he said. "Some of the boys wanted to stay and play. But the majority ruled. We felt we couldn't perform 100 per cent under the circumstances."

Compare Notes
He said Dixon and his group "made a big point of the fact that arrangements had been made for us to be accepted at the better restaurants and nightspots and by one of the major cab companies."

"If they had told us this before, we'd have looked specifically for those cabs and sought our entertainment in those places. But they led us to believe everything was okay. And it wasn't."

On New Year's Day, the Sugar Bowl had its first completely integrated football game. Syracuse, which lost to Louisiana State 13-10, had eight Negroes on its team. They said they did not run into any discrimination here.

Mayor Ill

Mayor Victor Schiro couldn't be reached for comment. His telephone answering service said he was ill.

Proceeds from the All-Star game, first scheduled for a non-league city, were to be distributed to the New Orleans Police Foundation, the Fraternal Order of Police, the National Police Association and the Police Benevolent Association.

The other Negroes on the All-Star teams included Cookie Gilchrist, Elbert Dubenion and George Byrd of Buffalo; Larry Garron and Houston Plunkett of Boston; Sherman Plunkett and Winston Hill of New York; Sid Blanks of Houston; Art Powell of Oakland; Abner Haynes, Mack Lee Hill, Julius Buchanan, Bob Bell and Dave Grayson of Kansas City; Frank Buncom of San Diego and Willie Brown of Denver.

Premontre Nips Springs, 74-72

FOND DU LAC — Sparked by Jerry DeGroot's 10-point avalanche in the final quarter, Green Bay Premontre's Cadets rallied to capture their first win of the season here Sunday, a 74-72 verdict from Fond Du Lac St. Mary's Springs.

Trailing 54-53 entering the final eight minutes, Premontre sprinted to a 71-66 lead when Craig Johansen potted a pair of free throws with 1:20 left.

Springs retaliated somewhat but the Cadets kept things under control and only Jim Callahan's basket at the buzzer cut the final count to two points.

Premontre's first victory after six Fox Valley Catholic Conference defeats and eight losses overall, came on the free throw line. Coach Gary Herold's charges took advantage of 31

Springs fouls to connect on 40 of 53 charity attempts.

Shula Says He'd Trade Pro Bowl Victory for NFL Championship

Praises Defenders Marchetti, Davis, Roger Brown

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "It's a satisfying victory but I'd trade it for a National Football League title," said Coach Don Shula after his Western All-Stars bombed the East 34-14 in the annual Pro Bowl.

Shula said after the game he would much rather have had beaten Coach Blanton Collier in the NFL title game. Collier's Cleveland Browns blasted Shula's Baltimore Colts 27-0 in that one, so the Pro Bowl victory over the Collier-coached East was some salve for his wounds.

Shula gave most of the credit for victory to his great defensive unit led by retiring Gino Marchetti.

"Marchetti, (Willie) Davis and (Roger) Brown really gave them a rush," Shula said. "They forced their quarterbacks to set up and throw early."

Shula pointed out that both East touchdowns were set up by the West's offensive team—a fumble by Johnny Unitas and an interception of a Fran Tarkenton pass.

Won't Ask Marchetti

Shula said he positively won't ask Baltimore restaurant owner Marchetti to come back and play next year.

"How long can you keep asking a guy to play?" he said. "He (Marchetti) has given everything he has."

Shula had high praise, too, for his quarterbacks, Unitas and Tarkenton.

"They both played well," he said. "Unitas moved the ball although he couldn't get any touchdowns. Tarkenton got points."

Marchetti had nothing to say about the play injuring East quarterback Frank Ryan, who suffered a shoulder separation.

"I honestly don't know what happened," Marchetti said.

In the losers' dressing room, Ryan also played down the incident. Several sports writers asked him pointed questions, inferring that perhaps Marchetti's blitz was too savage.

"I really don't remember," Ryan said. "I was out cold. You saw more than I did."

Collier disclosed that his other quarterback, Sonny Jurgensen, had an injured arm since last Thursday. The injury was kept secret, Collier said, and Jurgensen was originally going to see only limited service. Ryan's injury forced Jurgensen to carry the full load at quarterback in the second half.

Collier said he reported this not as an alibi but in fairness to Jurgensen, who didn't have exactly a stunning success on the Vandenberg started the spurge with a free throw — as 4:20 remained in the quarter — to put the Hawks ahead for good. Then Rankin scored on a reverse lay-up, and Mike Heideman hit from the corner for a 13-8 lead. Tom Huiting recorded a Chuter free throw.

Hits 20-Footer

Springer lofted a 20-footer over the Chuters' 3-2 zone. Vandenberg hit a short jumper Heideman connected from 20 feet. Springer scored on a steal and Rankin tallied on a fast break. The Xavier lead stood at 14 points, with 7:04 left in the half.

St. John closed the gap to 10 (25-16), but Xavier spurred to a 36-20 halftime edge.

It was more of the same in the third quarter, as the torried Hawks scored the first nine points and outpointed, the Chuters, 16-2, in the first 5:08 of the second half. St. John went into a press during the surge, but it failed to slow the Hawks.

Xavier led 58-29, after three periods and were held even, 18 to 18, in the final quarter.

Rankin, in a flashy exhibition of close-in shooting and board work hit on 12 of 19 shots and led rebounders with an unofficial total of 14. Heideman, hitting seven of 11 from the floor, contributed 15 points. Vandenberg sank five of seven field shots enroute to a 13-point night.

Hammen hit seven of 17 for St. John. Weyenberg was the only other double figure scorer, with 10.

second half after Ryan was injured when hit on a blitzing rush by Olsen and Marchetti. Ryan, who had guided the Cleveland Browns to a 27-0 league championship victory over the Baltimore Colts, suffered a shoulder separation.

Marchetti and Co. gave Ryan and Jurgensen a tremendous rush all afternoon, limiting the East's aerial warfare to 114 yards. They also contained the East's running game spearheaded by power-driving Jim Brown. The big Cleveland fullback picked up just 64 yards in 12 carries.

Broke Game Open

Tarkenton broke the game open in the second quarter, moving the West 80 yards to a score on dazzling passing. Scrambling out of the protective blocking cup, Tarkenton hit Tommy Mason on a 45-yard gainer and followed with a 35-yard toss to Barr. Barr was tripped up on the two. Bill Brown hit left tackle for the touchdown.

This and a 15-yard first quarter field goal by Wayne Walker, gave the West a 10-0 lead.

Renfro gave the East its first touchdown when he picked off a Tarkenton pass that fell in back of Jim Gibbons and raced 47 yards to score.

The West came back with a touchdown, marching 87 yards in nine plays that included a Tarkenton to Barr pass covering 39 yards and another to Brown good for 11. Then, from the two yard line, Tarkenton faked a rollout around end that brought in the defense and tossed a soft lob to Brown who went into the end zone untouched.

Alert Defense

The alert West pass defense got a touchdown later in the third quarter when Ray Nitschke grabbed a Jurgensen pass intended for John Henry Johnson and sprinted 42 yards to the goal. Walker added a 28-yard field goal for the West and Lenny Moore bucked over two yards for a West touchdown in the fourth quarters.

The second East touchdown came on a pass from Jurgensen to Jim Brown covering 27-yards. Brown speared the ball on the five and twisted away from the West cornerman to score standing up.

The victory was sweet revenge for head Coach Don Shula, whose Baltimore Colts were bombed by Blanton Collier's Cleveland Browns for the NFL championship. Collier coached the East squad.

The victory gave the West a 10-5 edge in the annual charity classic.

End of Career

It also marked an end to the football career of Marchetti, who says he's quitting after this season. Marchetti played in his 10th Pro Bowl game. Leo Novelli, now retired, is the only other NFL veteran with such a record.

Black Hawks Edge Detroit, Regain Lead

Maple Leafs Rout Rangers By 6-0 Margin

Chicago's Pierre Pilote and Toronto's Tim Horton, the National Hockey League's All-Star defensive combination in 1963-64, are becoming disturbingly offensive to rival goaltenders this season.

Pilote affronted Detroit goalie Roger Crozier with two tallies Sunday night as the Black Hawks edged the Red Wings 3-2 and climbed past idle Montreal into first place.

Horton, making the most of his temporary conversion to right wing, also scored twice, keying the Maple Leafs' 6-0 rout of the Rangers.

Pilote, whose playmaking — 28 assists — has kept him among the individual point leaders despite his failure to score a goal in the Hawks' first 30 games, has fired five in the last eight games. He finished the 63-64 campaign with seven goals.

Third-Period Rally

The Hawks took a 3-0 lead in the first period, rookie Dennis Hull connecting after Pilote's second goal, and withstood Detroit's third-period rally to complete a weekend sweep of the Wings and move one point ahead of the Canadiens. Chicago beat Detroit 7-4 Saturday, Bobby Hull caging his 34th and 35th goals.

Horton, moved up to the forward line after a series of injuries wrecked the Maple Leafs' offense, beat New York goalie Jacques Plante twice in 50 seconds early in the second period. The back-to-back goals gave Toronto a 3-0 lead and boosted Horton's season total to seven, two short of his 63-64 total.

Bob Pulford also scored a pair for the Leafs. Ron Stewart and Frank Mahovlich completed the deluge while goalie Johnny Bowyer stopped 27 shots enroute to his first shutout of the season. The victory lifted Toronto into third place, a point up on Detroit.

If the Baltimore Bullets go no higher than third in the National Basketball Association's Western Division this year, the culprit may be the New York Knicks, who most likely won't go any higher than last in the Eastern Division.

The Knicks ended a four-game losing streak under new Coach Harry Gallatin Sunday by edging the third-place Bullets, 122-120. The victory was the fourth for the Knicks in five meetings with Baltimore this season. It also pushed the Bullets 1½ games behind second-place St. Louis.

Cincinnati drubbed Detroit 140-114 in the only other game scheduled.

Casanova Lists Reasons for Walkout as Hula Bowl Coach

BY LEN CASANOVA

CHICAGO (AP) — My walk-out rules of cooperation and conduct sneaked signings should be centered as a co-coach in the Hula Bowl game was a protest against the few in pro football who are abusing what should be a cordial and workable college-pro relationship.

The rash of recent premature pro signings, especially involving four Oklahoma players, should not condemn all of pro football.

Providence '5' Extends Win Streak to 11

Friars Wallop Canisius, 86-69; Duke Upset, 65-62

Before the college basketball season started, Providence Coach Joe Mullaney surveyed his squad but he couldn't have been enthused about what he saw.

The Friars had lost 6-foot-10 John Thompson and versatile Jim Stone by graduation and 6-8 Bob Kovalski was an academic casualty. All were key men on last year's 20-0 outfit.

What was left was a topheavy roster of sophomores and juniors with only four seniors on the 15 man squad. "We didn't figure much in pre-season," Mullaney admits.

He can afford to be candid. Providence takes the only unblemished record among major college teams into a two-week exam respite today. The Friars are 11-0 and don't play again until Jan. 23 when they take on Seton Hall.

Only 2 At Home

"We kind of sneaked up on the pollsters," said Mullaney after his ninth-ranked team had walloped Canisius 86-69 in Buffalo Saturday night. That put the Friars halfway through their schedule and e completed a stretch of eight games, only two of which were played at home.

"I can imagine the fellows out west still don't figure we're too strong," Mullaney adds. "We're not bothered by that." Two of the Friar victories came on a swing through the midwest against Creighton University and Iowa.

Jim Walker, one of the sophomores who has come through in a big way for Providence, led Saturday's victory with 27 points.

And while the Friars continued undefeated, sixth-ranked Duke ran into a snag in all places, the Atlantic Coast Conference where the Blue Devils were considered shoo-ins.

North Carolina pulled into Duke's lair at Durham, N.C., with a four-game losing streak and the Blue Devils were on a seven-game victory skein. But Hammen the Tar Heels got 22 points from Novak in Billy Cunningham and 21 from Janssen. Vanevenhoven

While Duke and North Carolina were ending streaks, top-ranked UCLA and New Mexico and Dartmouth extended strings, the first two happily, the third sadly.

11th Straight

The Uclans and the Lobos each won their 11th straight. UCLA whacked Oregon State 83-53 and New Mexico slugged Arizona 64-42. Keith Erickson led UCLA with 22 while New Mexico's defense made the difference against the Wildcats.

Dartmouth, meanwhile, had its futility streak in the Ivy League extended to 23 games as Columbia scored an 85-77 victory.

Last Friday night, Xavier's JVs beat Marinette, 55-35, with Zuleger's 19 points leading the way.

Federal Budget Terms You Should Know

BY SYLVIA PORTER

On Monday, Jan. 25, the budget bureau will launch its annual assault on your ability to understand baffle-gab — and because a lot of the budget-making ground rules are being altered, this year's assault will be the fiercest ever.

Administrative budget receipts and expenditures against consolidated case receipts and payments — what, oh what, is the difference? Budget deficit against excess of payments by the government — and what is the distinction here?

Fiscal year, appropriations, new obligational authority, expenditures, receipts — what do the words really mean?

You Should Know
You are a rare one indeed if you'll grasp even a fraction of the technical terms which will crowd the budget headlines and lengthy budget reports beginning the 25th. Yet, the federal budget is so vitally important to your paychecks and profits, our country's prosperity, our position in the world. Here, therefore, is my valiant attempt to translate financial baffle-gab at its abysmal worst into our language.

Fiscal Year: The federal government bases its finances on a year running from July to July, in contrast to our usual calendar year running from January to January. The budget the President is submitting in January 1965 is to cover the year starting July 1, 1965, and ending June 30, 1966. Thus, it's called the 1966 fiscal year budget.

For Specific Purpose
Appropriations: This is the total President Johnson will ask congress to authorize the administration to spend. When congress grants an appropriation of a specific total for a specified purpose, the government agency concerned has the power to spend the appropriation for the specified purpose. It doesn't have to spend the money in any set period, though. The agency can spend her parents, she is survived by her grandmother, Mrs. Caroline Van Gheem, Greenleaf; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Berrens, Chilton; great-grandmother, Mrs. Walter Bakker, Kiel, Wis. Funeral services will be at 9 a.m. Tuesday at St. Mary Catholic Church, Greenleaf. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery, DePere. The Rev. Earl Brouhard will officiate. Friends may call at the DeWane Funeral Home, Wrightstown after 7 p.m. Monday.

New Obligational Authority: This ponderous piece of baffle-gab covers all types of authorizations granted by congress for the spending of money. The budget makers may scold me for over-simplification, but I think of "appropriations" and "new obligational authority" as synonyms.

Expenditures: This is the total the President will estimate the federal government actually will spend in the 12 months starting July 1 for purposes ranging from national defense to emptying wastepaper basins. Actual spending never matches the President's January estimates for the simple reason that the figures are for a period which won't begin until July and which won't end until almost 18 months from now. Making accurate estimates so billions of dollars of taxes far in advance is a virtual impossibility. But the estimates are a basis for congressional action.

Receipts: This is the total the President will estimate the U.S.

Treasury actually will take in during the 12-month period, primarily, of course, from income taxes. For the same reason as above, actual receipts never match original estimates. Incidentally, because this is an estimate of tax rate from paychecks and profits, it reveals White House projections of how prosperous our economy will be.

Administrative Budget Receipts and Expenditures: The regular, familiar budget which will be making the headlines. Consolidated Cash Receipts and Payments: Ah, this is something else, for it includes in addition to the regular budget estimates, the vast operations of the government's trust funds. For instance, it includes the Budget Surplus: Something we've rarely had in more than a generation and won't have for the foreseeable future — but for the record, a budget surplus means more income than outgo.

Budget Deficit: The red ink in

Jet Pilot Explains Viet Nam Conflict to Waupaca Lions

WAUPACA—The Viet Nam won will be by educating the people and winning their confidence, he said. This will be difficult, he said, because the people of Viet Nam never have known freedom. They have been fighting wars all their lives.

Many times the Vietnamese people are kidnaped and forced to fight. In some villages, Hill said, the Communists moved in at night and kidnaped every Hill, a jet pilot who recently returned from a tour of duty in the South Pacific and Viet Nam, said he thinks the war being waged between South Viet Nam and the Communist Viet Cong is important in the fight to suppress Communist growth in the world.

A 12-year Air Force veteran, Hill and his wife and three children are visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Hill, Waupaca.

Bay of Tonkin

Although Hill was stationed on Okinawa, his fighter group was alerted and called into action in Viet Nam during the Bay of Tonkin incident. During his stay in Viet Nam he was stationed in Saigon.

Using a map of Viet Nam, Capt. Hill explained the background, the current situation and his personal views of the war.

The captain said Communists need Viet Nam because it is the "breadbasket of Southern Asia" and they cannot produce enough food for "China's hoards."

In Viet Nam, 70 per cent of the food raised is exported, and present production is only 20 per cent of capacity. A 12-month growing season plus rich ground is the reason for this high food production capacity of the country, he said.

Road Block

If the Communists take over Viet Nam there is nothing to stop them from taking all of Southern Asia, all the way to Australia, he said. However, he added, they don't want India because it can't supply enough food for its own people.

Another question often heard, Capt. Hill said, is why can't we go in and defeat the Communists? To fight a guerrilla type action such as the one in Viet Nam it takes a force of 12-to-1. The hard core army of North Viet Nam has a strength of approximately 10,000 well trained men. In addition, there are 30,000 to 40,000 farmers and other people that make up the guerrilla Viet Cong units. At a 12-1 rate it would take a staggering force to defeat the Viet Cong, Hill said.

The guerrilla Viet Cong will creep out of the jungle at night for a raid and disappear. They fight from about 7 p.m. to 3 a.m. and then go home. When South Viet Nam forces arrive on the scene the next morning they find men working in the rice fields who deny knowing First Methodist Church, Appleton; the Rev. H.E. He received the highest praise from Hill. These men are some of the best fighters in the world and are giving the Viet Nam forces expert training, he said. So far 296 of the Special Forces men have given their lives in the fight.

When the Bay of Tonkin crisis arose, the U. S. gave one of the finest displays of how fast it can assemble a force to retaliate an attack. Although much of the information is classified and Capt. Hill could not go into detail, he said within hours our forces were on the scene in strength and deployed in several strategic locations.

On Airport Positions

State, Outagamie Clear Up Misunderstanding

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Friendly relations between Outagamie County aviation officials and spokesmen and the Wisconsin State Aeronautics Commission have been restored, following what was a "misunderstanding" as described by both sides about the state's position on the continuation of scheduled airline service at Appleton.

The state board, with one dissenting vote, Friday decided to lend all possible legal and other assistance to Appleton and Outagamie County in the fight to set aside the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) order which proposes to cancel North Central flights into and from Appleton as of Jan. 25.

The Appleton case that pledged of support came after a conference with an Appleton delegation that grew spirited at times.

Don Olson and other members of the board managed to persuade Mark Catlin Jr. of the county board and Karl Baldwin of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce that the state agency refrained from intervening on behalf of Appleton because state officials understood that was the wish of the Appleton officials.

Carry Argument

Catlin agreed he and his associates were prepared to carry their argument with the CAB alone — as long as the state government maintained its position in favor of the status quo in air-line service throughout Wisconsin, including Appleton.

But when the state agency recently decided to protest on behalf of other communities which are proposed for service cancellation, and did not mention Appleton, the action was the equivalent of announcing it was indifferent to the fate of service here, he said.

"In fact, that is a position favoring Oshkosh," he objected. "You are no longer neutral."

The CAB has proposed Appleton traffic be served through the Winnebago County airport at Oshkosh. State officials earlier had explained they were content to avoid involvement in the Appleton case because of their hesitation about choosing sides in the long dispute between Oshkosh and Appleton about airport development.

But Olson and a majority of the commissioners hastened to explain that they never intended to represent the state as favoring the lessening of air service anywhere.

Appleton Case

"Any service is better than no service," he said emphatically, as he brought the commission to a new official position supporting the Appleton case that satisfied Catlin and his colleagues.

Two state commissioners had reservations about the Outagamie County appeal, however, and one of them voted against the motion to support continued Outagamie County service through an appeal from the CAB decision. He is Arlyn West of Plover, Portage County, who claimed the dilemma of Appleton probably results from the obduracy of Outagamie County in "going it alone" on the new county airport project.

"All of us had reservations about the location of that new airport. Now they are living with the hazards of their position," he said.

Ted Cole of Sparta also recalled the earlier disputes about the airport and its location, but he voted with the majority in favor of continued North Central air service at Appleton.

Calumet Board Will Decide On County Building Annex

Need Space For Sheriff, Traffic Police

CHILTON — The Calumet County Board will decide on an annex to the county jail building and sheriff's office during the two-day session which opens at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Recommendations on the proposed project are expected to come from the board's public grounds and sheriff's committee and the State Board of Corrections.

Supp. Herman Greve, Hilbert, chairman of the committee, has been conducting the study since October. Preliminary plans call for a sheriff office and conference room, traffic patrolmen's office, radio room and public sanitary facilities.

It follows a four-point program presented to the board last Oct. 26, by Vernon Verhulst, state board of Corrections official.

In a letter to the board, Verhulst said that under existing conditions it is difficult to question a suspect with the communications equipment in the same room. The committee's recommendation for separate sheriff's offices and radio equipment room would alleviate this situation. Verhulst commended the county for the condition of the existing jail.

As of Jan. 1 the traffic department, headed by Calumet County Traffic Patrol Captain Victor Juno, became a separate arm of the county's law enforcement program, and as a result, therefore needs its own facilities.

Supp. Greve said an architect's advice on layout and location of the addition has been obtained, but action is awaiting the board's decision.

The county board also will hear annual reports presented by the department heads.

He terminated service to the route 1, Clintonville, patrons Friday for Florida where they will remain until spring. From there for 12 years before coming to Clintonville.

His first transportation, a horse and buggy, provided some unusual experiences. Darling told how his horses had been wading through one area on the winter rally of Air Stream Travel Trailers at the Wally Byan Club, Anna Maria, Fla. # Waupaca Plans Second Fine Arts Festival

Success of Program Last Year Prompts Oratorio Scheduling

WAUPACA — Success of last year's first fine arts festival has prompted city officials to start planning another one for 1965 according to Jerry Knoepfel, chairman.

One of the highlights of the festival is the community chorus which last year presented Mendelssohn's oratorio, "Elijah", to an audience of over 600 people. The community chorus, which will be under the direction of Knoepfel this year, will present Handel's Oratorio "Judas Maccabaeus." Last year's chorus of 160 was made up of singers from Iola, Scandinavia, Manawa, Amherst, Nelsonville, New London, Weyauwega and Aaupaca.

Hope for 200

This year's chorus again is open to any individual of the Waupaca area who sings and wishes to be a member of the chorus.

Chorus membership committee chairman, Gilbert Johnson, and Mrs. Ruth Kelly, hope to have a chorus of 200 voices, Knoepfel said.

First rehearsal of the community chorus will be Jan. 12 in Waupaca High School's multi-purpose room. Rehearsals will be from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. every night.

The oratorio will be presented March 7.

Lawyers Lead Occupations of Legislators

Farmers Rank in Second Spot in Total Numbers

BY HARVEY BREUSCHER

MADISON (AP) — A court-dictated realignment of legislative districts will give Wisconsin population centers a bigger voice in the state Legislature.

But in the 1965 session convening Wednesday noon, farmers rank second only to lawyers in terms of numerical strength.

Of the 133 senators and assemblymen elected to make laws governing the 4 million residents of America's Dairyland, 32 are attorneys.

Farmer-legislators total 23 and with small community representatives added, the lightly populated areas of Wisconsin still have a proportionately larger number of people speaking for them in the state Capitol.

Insurance Real Estate

The lawyers and farmers taking seats in the 77th Wisconsin Legislature will be joined by 11 insurance men and 8 others who spend all or part of their home working days in the real estate business.

The remaining cross-section includes wholesale and retail grocers and merchants, building contractors, businessmen, salesmen, machinists and retired teachers.

Representing the more unusual occupations are Sen. Frank W. Christopherson, D-Superior, a locomotive fireman and engineer; Sen. Wilfred Schuele, D-Milwaukee, a water softening company official; Assemblyman Harold W. Clemens, R-Oconomowoc, a boat livery operator; Assemblyman Bernard Lewison, R-Viroqua, a tobacco buyer; Assemblyman Robert Schmidt, D-Milwaukee, a retired custard stand operator, and Sen. Jess Miller, R-Richland Center, an auctioneer.

Oldest Legislator

Miller also is the oldest state legislator. The longtime Senate Highway Committee chairman is 80. Assemblyman Fred P. Kessler, D-Milwaukee, is the youngest lawmaker at 24.

The fresh start in the law-making process will be made shortly after the 1965 session is formally and finally adjourned.

The old business carryover makes necessary a sixth meeting of the Republican-controlled Legislature that operated under the Democratic administration of former Gov. John W. Reynolds.

A 9 a.m. start is set for the meeting and it's only expected action will be the official discard of all pending legislation.

Carry Over Bills

Assemblyman Paul Alfonsi, R-Minocqua, the 1963 Republican majority floorleader of his house, said most of the carryover legislation probably will be reintroduced in the new session. Alfonsi will yield his majority floorleader's position in the new meeting to Frank Nikolay of Abbotsford, an able and scrappy leader of the Democratic force that will take control of the Assembly for the first time since 1959.

The Democratic majority in the 100-member Assembly is a thin 52-48.

Republicans lost two seats in the Nov. 3 election, but still hold a hefty State Senate lead of 20-12. A thirty-third senator will be elected in March to fill the vacancy created when Lynn Stalbaum, D-Racine, was elevated to Congress.

Striking a budget and revenue balance again will be a major chore of legislators in both houses. But with fellow Republican Warren P. Knowles in the governor's chair, the Senate's GOP majority will be spared the exertion of holding back confirmation of state appointments.

Live Within Your Income

Not Worth Depleting Bank Balance to Pay Off Loan

BY MARY FEELEY

Dear Miss Feeley:

We have just purchased a new car. We got a bank loan for $3,200 for a three-year period. We have made two payments.

My husband has now decided to pay off the loan. To do this, he will withdraw the money from our savings account — leaving approximately $2,000 in it.

I am against this, because he is in business for himself, and this money represents security to me in case of illness or other emergency.

We would be able to replace the money in 18 months if everything goes as well as it is now. Is he right in feeling that we are just wasting the $400 interest charge on the loan?

Mrs. B.J.H., Massillon, Ohio like to know what it costs for a family of five to live moderately comfortable these days.

He pays $68 rent and $50 a week to his sister-in-law (his daughters lives with her.) My rent is $95 a month. My son, 17, is still attending school. My friend's two girls are 6 and 10.

I go to business but it is unlikely that I would continue to do so if we marry. Having been alone so long, I'm afraid of letting my heart rule my head.

Mrs. J.D., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Dear Mrs. D.:

You haven't given me enough basic information, especially about your friend's income. If he averages $125 a week, you could think about giving up your own job when you marry.

I was born with the conviction that people can live on love. But a number of years spent dealing with the stark financial facts of life has taught me that it takes both a head and a heart to make a marriage work, to feed and educate children, and keep a roof over your head. Look over this expense estimate — which includes something for savings — and see how you think your plans would work out:

Housing, $125; household operating costs, $30; food, $143; clothing, $30; savings, (this includes insurance; $20; personal allowances ($43 for him, $21 for your son who needs some spending money at age 17, and $13 for you), $77; miscellaneous, $20; medical costs, $15; recreation and entertainment (companionship will have to take the place of money), $15; school items, $10; transportation, $30. Total, depending on rent, about $515 per month.

In estimating your costs, try to see that rent doesn't exceed one week's salary (his, in this case). This is a rule of thumb that seems to work best.

St. Elizabeth Hospital Aims For Sept. 1 East Wing Opening

Expansion Project in Appleton Concentrated in Clinic Addition

Construction work in the St. Elizabeth Hospital building program currently is being concentrated on the new east clinic wing, the first area scheduled for completion.

The clinic wing now is completely closed in except for windows and doors. This wing is expected to be ready for occupancy about Sept. 1, and the new south wing is expected to be completed about Dec. 1.

Brick masonry work on the five-story south wing, has gone around the wing. It is expected this wing will be enclosed in about eight weeks.

The first of two new boilers has been installed and will be in use as soon as inspections are completed.

In the clinic area, brick masonry work was finished in mid-November and roofing is almost completed. On the first floor masons now are doing the glazed tile partition work. Door frames have been placed, plumbing is stubbed up to the proper level and electrical lines are being brought in. The pneumatic tube system stations are installed and much of the tubing is being set in place.

In the clinic basement, 70 per cent of the unglazed tile partition work is completed and 40 per cent of the plumbing and steamfitting work is finished. Electrical conduits are in place. Decisions have been reached on the morgue equipment and orders placed for delivery about July 1.

Workmen are breaking in from the east wing to the present main building at the March and the second new boiler will be installed in early April.

The last of the deck pouring on the new south wing was completed on the last day of 1964. Work on this wing is 30 days ahead of schedule.

Decisions have been made on the type of X-ray equipment to be installed in the clinic wing and orders have been placed, with delivery about July 1. A supplier for laboratory equipment has been selected and asked to submit a quotation within 30 days.

After the two new wings are completed, the present convent building to the north of the main building will be razed and a new wing built there, and the main building and present chapel building will be completely renovated.

Completion of the entire $7.3 million program is expected in spring of 1967.

Oshkosh Councilman Criticizes Discussion 'Gag' on Employees

OSHKOSH — A reported "gag" of city employees prohibiting them from talking to council members about city business came in for criticism today from councilman Robert Putzer.

Putzer said that behind this "gag" was a statement by City Manager Ray E. Harbaugh, accusing two city employees of violating the city's purchasing ordinance regarding the renting of equipment for use in a landfill project at Red Arrow Park near the city's swimming pool and high school.

Councilman Putzer stated today that last Monday he investigated a purported rumor concerning the equipment rental, and was advised at the city hall that the city was not renting any equipment. On Tuesday, after further investigation, he found that the city was renting equipment.

Discussed Matter

Putzer continued that at Wednesday night's council meeting, he discussed this with the city manager during a recess and outside of the council chambers, and was advised that a directive was being issued to all city department heads and division heads regarding violation of the city purchasing ordinance but that no names would be used until after further investigation.

Putzer also said the city manager told him that there were no rental charges included among the bills being approved at the council meeting.

Putzer declared that he learned on Thursday that there were rental charges among those bills and the manager issued a statement to the Oshkosh newspaper accusing City Finance Director Orville A. Gartman and Sanitation Supt. Frank Reischl of violating the city purchasing ordinance.

Harbaugh's statement accused Reischl of violating the ordinance through renting the equipment. The ordinance provides that bids shall be taken on all services such as equipment rentals that might exceed $1,000 for the entire job. Gartman was criticized by the city manager in that statement for having approved the bill for payment.

Higher Authority

Putzer said that through his own investigation it appears that the order for the rental of the equipment came from higher authority than the department heads.

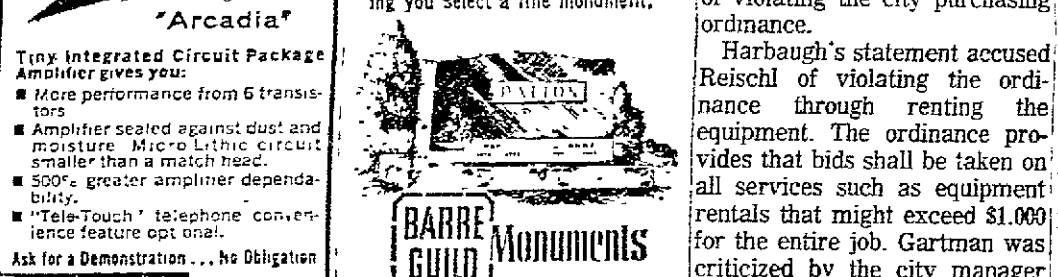

Putzer also said he and the Council President, John Fitzgerald, went to the city hall Friday to see the manager about this statement but was advised he was not in. They then checked with department heads and were advised that they had been told not to give the council members any information on the subject.

Full Council

They later found the city manager in his office. Putzer said, and that Harbaugh said he

2 Freight Trains Collide at Track Crossover in Ohio

Fuel Tanks of Diesel Engines Explode; Six Crewmen Killed

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Six crewmen burned to death today in a fiery collision of two heavy freight trains at a diamond track crossing. A seventh crewman escaped.

The State Highway Patrol reported four bodies were taken from diesel engine units of the two trains. Two bodies still were pinned in the wreckage.

The crash shook houses nearby in Sterling, where the Erie Lackawanna Railroad line crossed tracks of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

The four-diesel unit of the B&O, pulling 107 freight cars, was moving slowly into the track intersection when the Erie four-diesel unit collided with it. Chester Winkler, fire chief at Sterling, which is 31 miles southwest of Cleveland, was awakened by the crash, less than 200 feet from his house.

Saw Flames
"I looked out and saw flames shooting 100 to 150 feet in the air," he said. The chief said there were four or five explosions and "I figured I couldn't get my men close for a while." It was several hours before the fire was controlled.

The only survivor of the engine crews was Clyde H. Masters, 54, of Marion, Ohio, an Erie brakeman. He was thrown clear.

"I heard a crash, and the next thing I knew I was flying through the air," Masters said. He told patrolmen he had gone to the trailing unit of the engine because of a problem with the radio.

Six Killed
Killed were Erie engineer Donald Narrey, 42, and brakeman Carl Porter, both of Marion and these B&O crewmen: engineer Carl R. Duckworth, brakeman F. C. Cruschel, fireman G. S. Williams, all of New Castle, Pa., and a 6th man, not immediately identified.

Two men in the Erie caboose escaped injury. They were identified as Fred Vestal and N. G. Tyson, both of Marion.

An Erie-Lackawanna spokesman said the Erie train, which was westbound, was traveling "at normal speed, which would be about 50 miles per hour in that area."

Electronic signals control traffic at the intersection, and the spokesman said the signals son.

U. S. Seeks Indictments

Grand Jury to Rehear Evidence in Slayings

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — FBI after a three-day period in Twenty-three Mississippians November. This came one today take a second look at evidence in the slaying of three civil rights workers.

Armed with what it says is a confession, the Justice Department will go before a 23-member federal grand jury here today to seek indictments.

Jury Meeting
The jury was scheduled to meet today at the federal post office building with U.S. District Judge Harold Cox of Jackson presiding.

Since murder is a federal offense only when committed on U.S. property, the Justice Department was expected to press for civil rights violations.

Another Statement
However, there was a report — said to have come from government sources — that other evidence also includes a statement from another man. The FBI would neither confirm or deny this.

"I'm afraid I'm going to have to give you a no comment on that one," said Roy Moore, special agent in charge of the Jackson FBI office.

Charges against 21 men arrested in the June 21 killing — including Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey and Chief Deputy Cecil Price — were dropped after a Dec. 10 preliminary hearing in Meridian.

U.S. Commissioner Esther Carter declined to admit testimony by an FBI agent on an alleged confession.

The government claimed Barnett made a statement to the

Scores of Ships Stranded As Workers Strike Ports

Flames Shot Nearly 200 feet in the air early today after two freight trains collided at Sterling, Ohio, near Akron. The grinding crash killed five trainmen and injured a sixth. A seventh was missing, apparently trapped in the tangled wreckage. The two locomotives came together at a track crossing, apparently when one was unable to stop for a signal. Fire broke out when fuel tanks ruptured. (AP Wirephoto)

Union Members Object to Clause Providing for Slow Reduction of Dock Gangs

NEW YORK (AP) — The 60,000-member longshoremen's union struck ports from Maine to Texas at 12:01 a.m. today.

Objections among rank-and-file union members in New York to a clause in a proposed new contract providing for a gradual reduction in work gangs apparently triggered the strike.

The walkout, in effect, is a resumption of the one-day walkout last Oct. 1 when the work contract expired. At that time, President Johnson invoked the Taft-Hartley Act and a federal court injunction sent the men back to work during an 80-day cooling-off period. The government's injunctive power now is exhausted.

Presidential Action
The White House gave no indication of any presidential action in the new strike. Informed sources in Washington said President Johnson probably would act only if it appeared there would be an immediate crippling of the national economy.

Extra longshoremen were employed in New York and several other ports at weekend overtime.

Contract Rejection
Union President Thomas W. Gleason said he was "shocked" by the contract rejection in the port of New York in a union membership vote last Friday.

Huge Air Force Plane Crashes; 6 Men Aboard

Craft Falls Into Ocean on Takeoff From Wake Island

HONOLULU (AP) — A huge U.S. Air Force cargo plane capable of lifting 50 tons plunged into the Pacific Ocean less than a minute after takeoff from Wake Island Sunday. No trace could be found of its six-man crew.

The Cargomaster exploded and burned as it hit the water about a mile east of Wake. Control tower officials said the takeoff had appeared normal as the four-engine aircraft left the runway.

Federal Aviation Agency observers in the tower saw the explosion and dispatched crash boats to the scene. Darkness hampered the search. After daylight, about five hours after the crash, searchers found debris on the water but no trace of survivors or bodies.

Crew Listed
Aboard the Dover (Del.) Air Force Base plane were: Capt. Arthur F. Wiegand, 30, Clearwater, Fla., the aircraft commander; Maj. Herman D. Stephan, 44, Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, Canada, copilot; 1st Lt. Jon B. Parker, 24, Silver Spring, Md.; T. Sgt. James O. Smith, 29, Elmira, N.Y.; S. Sgt. Anthony Panzarella, 36, Queens, N.Y.; and S. Sgt. James Gold, 34, Squantum, Mass.

pay rates to speed passenger and cargo ships to sea before the strike deadline. More than 20 ships left the port of New York Sunday.

Scores of ships were stranded in various ports, however. The strike resulted primarily from the action of New York members of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association in rejecting the proposed contract with the New York Shipping Association. Agreements reached between the IILA and the association, which represents 145 shipping and stevedoring companies, traditionally set the pattern for contracts in other ports. There also were

Red China Calls for Remolding of U. N.

TOKYO (AP) — The sharpness of Communist China's denunciations of the United Nations in connection with Indonesia's withdrawal raises a question.

Is Peking hinting it will refuse to join the United Nations even if the invitation comes on Communist China's terms? There are indications that Peking still has its eyes on U.N. membership but may raise new demands to boost its prestige among the African and Asian nations.

Charter Amendments
The Red Chinese may call for amendments to the 20-year-old U.N. Charter to benefit the African and Asian countries admitted to the world organization since 1945.

In a government statement Sunday, the Red Chinese declared the United Nations needs to be "thoroughly remolded." Peking claimed the organization had become a tool of the United States.

But Peking did not suggest how it should be changed.

In their attacks on the organization the Chinese Reds were careful not to offend the new African and Asian nations who are prime targets in Peking's communication drives.

The Chinese statement said that "it is fully understandable that newly independent Asian and African countries have placed hopes in the United Nations." But it added that "blind faith in the United Nations must be liquidated."

"Two Chinas"
Communist China has repeatedly claimed the United Nations need it more than it needs that body. It has said it will join only on its terms.

Defector Says UAR People Tired of Nasser

Conditions Are Impossible Under 'A Police State'

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — An Egyptian who claims he defected from the United Arab Republic's secret police told a news conference today the people of the U.A.R. are tired of President Gamal Abdel Nasser and are "terribly annoyed at the U.S. backing of his regime."

Abdul Ghadir Owdeh entered Iran Jan. 2 and said he was assigned to agitate against Iran's pro-Western government in the Persian Gulf area.

He told newsmen he had found living conditions under Nasser's "police state" impossible. He said his father, a leader of the Moslem Brotherhood, was executed by the Nasser regime in 1954.

After serving in the army, Owdeh said he joined the secret police, which he said was a force of 100,000 men.

Torturing Force
Owdeh claimed that Nasser's regime spends $1.5 million a day on the "torturing police force."

He asked that Iranian authorities use their influence to prevent Nasser torturing his six brothers and his ailing mother who still are in Cairo. Owdeh was granted political asylum in Iran.

He claimed that Nasser sells food aid received from the United States and uses the funds for military and sabotage purposes.

The majority of people in Egypt condemn the United States for supporting Nasser, he asserted. He claimed that the raid on the U.S. Information Agency library in Cairo on Nov. 26 was ordered by Nasser to placate his people and attempt to demonstrate that he was not supported by the U.S. government. The raid was blamed on Congolese and other African students protesting against the U.S.-Belgian rescue operation in the Congo.

British Expert on Dictionaries Dies

OXFORD, England (AP) — Dr. Charles Talbot Onions, 91, distinguished British philologist who helped complete the Oxford English Dictionary, has died in a hospital here, it was announced today.

Onions worked on dictionaries for nearly 70 years.

He spent 30 years compiling an etymological dictionary, tracing the derivation of words, and had worked at it until recently. One modern word which baffled him was "beatnik."

"I have not been able to find out what a beatnik is," he said. "I don't know its origin. I should like to see a satisfactory definition, otherwise the word is best left alone."

Two Renamed to Conservation Unit

Veterans' Terms Up 2 Years Ago, Former Appointees Unconfirmed

MADISON — Gov. Warren Knowles today restored to full stature as members of the state conservation commission two Republican hold-over veterans of that body who withstood a two-year effort by a previous Democratic administration to dismiss them.

The governor announced the reappointment of Guido Rahr of Manitowish, dean of the commission and now its chairman, and Charles F. Smith of Wausau, to six-year terms.

Technically their terms had expired two years ago, but they were legally entitled to continue serving because the Republican state senate repeatedly had declined to confirm, and thereby fixed Friday morning, but on Gov. John W. Reynolds during his single term as state executive.

Rahr has served longer as a member of the commission, and longer as its chairman, than any other man in its history, spanning four decades. Smith has served only a few years less.

Vote Superiority
Not only did the Republican state senate insist upon the retention of Rahr and Smith, but it also voted to deprive two Democrats of places that are always eagerly

Pound Rises As Price of Gold Drops

British and U. S. Currencies in Better Position

LONDON (AP) — The pound rose and the price of gold and gold mining shares came down with a bump in London today following the U.S. Treasury's warning to gold speculators.

The price of gold fell 4.375 cents from the $35.185 reached Friday night after a near-record scramble for the metal.

This morning's official price was fixed at $35.1425 an ounce, state senate repeatedly had declined to confirm, and thereby fixed Friday morning, but on Gov. John W. Reynolds during his single term as state executive.

This development gave a healthier look to both the pound sterling and the dollar. Both these currencies, widely used in international trade, had been under speculative pressure last week.

Foreign Exchange
In the foreign exchange market today the pound jumped back to $2.79 1-16. On Friday, when the gold rush was on, the rate was held at just under $2.79 with the Bank of England buying pounds to give support.

On the stock exchange gold shares, which boomed last week on speculation that the world gold price might be raised, fell. The U.S. Treasury put the brakes on the upward movement of gold with its statement after the London markets closed Friday, that the price of gold would not be raised and warning speculators that they would gurn their fingers.

The scramble had been touched off by the French government's action in converting part of its dollar holdings into gold, starting fears of currency devaluation.

14 Trapped as Mine Explodes

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — An explosion trapped 14 miners in a southern Serbian coal mine today. Technicians said there was little hope that anyone was alive.

The explosion occurred during the night, nearly 5,000 feet down. Rescue teams dug through the night and into the day.

The explosion was in a compressor, used for pneumatic drilling. It set off a rock slide and fire.

Young Driver Legislation Is Suggested

MILWAUKEE (AP)— Wisconsin Motor Vehicle Department Commissioner Director James L. Karns said Sunday that legislation is needed for automobile drivers in the 16-25 year old age group.

Persons in this age group comprise 20 per cent of the drivers of the state, he said, "yet they are involved in 35 per cent of the accidents and 37 per cent of the fatalities."

Karns spoke on a television show (The Open Question, WTMJ-TV).

He said that his department advocates issuance of probationary drivers' licenses for persons under 25 years of age. He also proposed an expanded state traffic patrol and laws which would compel older drivers to take periodical driving tests.

Erhard Stuck With Image of 'Rubber Lion'

Disenchantment Is Seen With Leader's
Many Policy Switches

BY JOHN WEYLAND

BONN, Germany (AP) — Some of Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's actions have provoked an old taunt that he's a rubber lion, and that may be hurting his chances for re-election next fall.

Germans use the term rubber lion to mean a man who talks tough but backs down rather than fight. It was often used against Erhard during his years as economics minister. As some Germans saw it, Erhard would take a stand, swear that nothing could budge him, then retreat when his situation began to look dangerous.

Erhard's friends argued that he simply acted like other politicians, altering a decision if it turned out to be unwise. But for much of the public he got stuck with the rubber-lion image. Doubts existed that he would show the required firmness if he became chancellor.

Erhard squirmed under the taunt. He was understood to have vowed that he would prove it wrong if he succeeded Konrad Adenauer. That happened Oct. 15, 1963.

Pension Demand

The new chancellor was put to his first test when disabled war veterans demanded higher pensions. He said the budget could not stand the strain and the nation's economic stability had to come first.

Many politicians in his own Christian Democratic party worried about this stand, fearing it was highly unpopular. Then the veterans staged a mass march on the capital. Erhard reversed himself and agreed to an increase in pensions.

Erhard supported the Berlin wall pass agreement for Christmas, 1963. It was heavily criticized within the country on the ground that Communist East Germany had been allowed to gain prestige. The chancellor then rejected a similar agreement for Easter.

Public opinion started running the other way, because of sympathy over the continued separation of Berlin families. Erhard then entered into a new wall pass agreement a bit different from the first.

Farm Vote

One of the touchiest problems for the government is agriculture. Erhard's party is heavily dependent on the farm vote. The other Common Market countries want a unified policy on farming. That would mean lowering West German grain prices and with them farm income here.

Erhard promised repeatedly that grain prices would not be reduced. The French President Charles de Gaulle threatened: lacking a reduction, France would pull out of the Common Market. The chancellor agreed to accept lower prices.

Erhard and the Cabinet decided that the statute of limitations on Nazi war crimes could not be extended beyond mid-1965. An extension was described as constitutionally impossible. There was hostile world reaction. Erhard then said it is a problem for Parliament to decide.

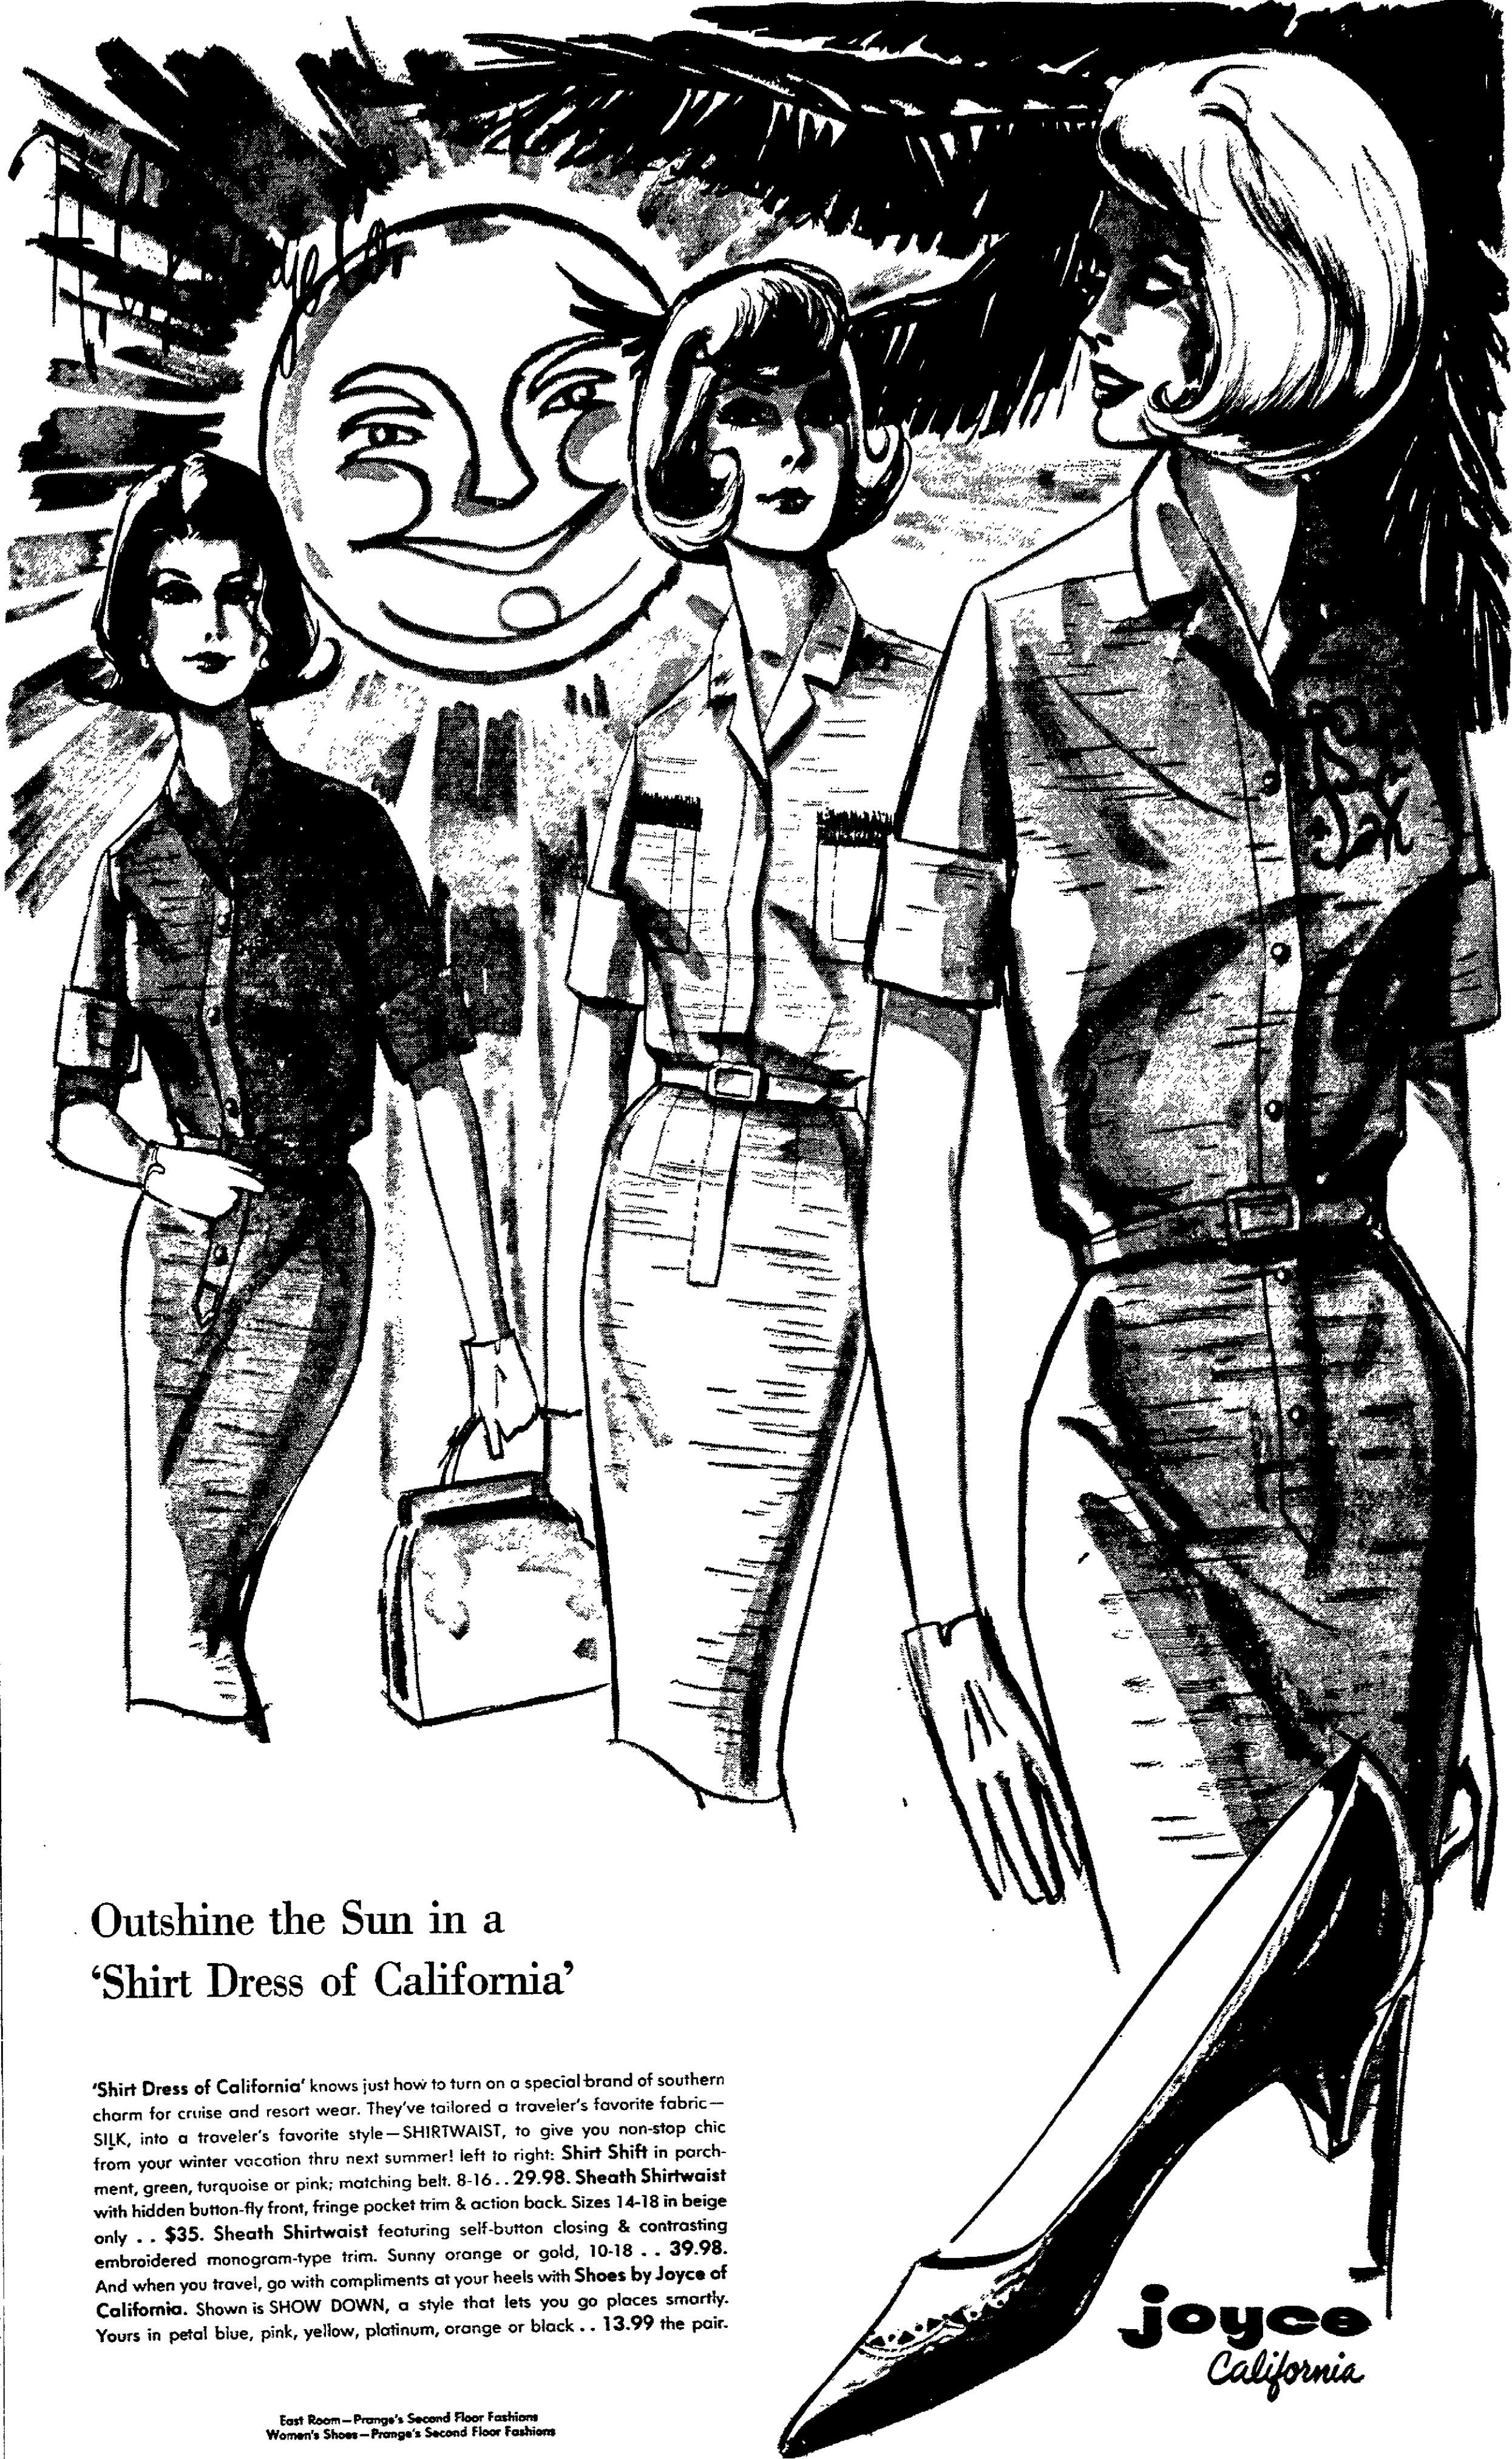

The chancellor's record also shows examples of steadfastness. The most prominent is continued loyalty to the United States despite the strong pro-De Gaulle sentiment of a parliamentary group led by Adenauer.

British Leader to Talk With Erhard

BONN, Germany (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson will visit Berlin Jan. 23, the Foreign Ministry reported today.

It will be the first time that a British prime minister has gone to the city since the Potsdam conference in 1945.

Wilson is arriving in Bonn Jan. 21 for talks with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and other West German leaders. He will fly to Berlin Jan. 23 and meet with Mayor Willy Brandt, whose Socialist party is the counterpart of Wilson's Labor party.

Roadblocks Cleared in Congress

All signs point to a more active and faster-paced session of Congress this year than at any time in recent memory. President Johnson has announced that detailed legislative proposals on a number of the programs he advanced in his State of the Union message will begin flowing from the White House to the Capitol almost immediately. It is traditional for a president to await his official inauguration before he starts presenting Congress with his legislative proposals, but President Johnson has said he can't wait that long.

Meanwhile in the first few days of the new session steps were taken in Congress to assure prompt consideration of those proposals.

The power of the House Rules Committee under the chairmanship of conservative Democratic Rep. Howard Smith of Virginia to sit on legislation was severely restricted. Under a new rule adopted by the House the committee may hold a bill no longer than 21 days; then the speaker will decide whether it is to be brought to the floor for a vote.

Another rules change provides that a majority of the House can send bills to a Senate-House conference committee for adjustment of differences. Until now the objection of one member could block this routing and send the bill back to the Rules Committee.

The prospects for passage of Johnson Administration bills was also considerably increased by the new assignments of House members to committees. Recognizing the heavy majority the Democrats now hold in the House, their representation on committees was increased proportionately, so that the majority party now has a 2 to 1 margin of membership on vital House committees.

Under these changes the House may well become merely a rubber stamp for administration legislation.

President Johnson may have a little more trouble over on the Senate side, however. The election of Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana as Democratic whip is evidence that southern conservatives still wield considerable influence in the Senate. And another attempt to change the Senate rules to make it easier to quash filibusters is obviously going to run into strong southern opposition.

Whereas in recent sessions it has been a combination of northern Republicans and southern Democrats in the House which has provided the main stumbling block to progressive legislation, the battleground may now switch to the Senate. But even there current betting has to be that the President will have decisive support.

Prime Minister Sato's Visit

It is almost ironical that ties of self-interest and mutual respect today bind the United States to its two greatest wartime enemies—West Germany and Japan. All three governments are largely capitalistic and all are rated among the most prosperous in the world.

The rapidity of German progress toward economic stability after the great devastation in World War II astounded the world. Japan, faced with greater problems in loss of raw materials and territory, moved somewhat more slowly, but its subsequent gains have been equally remarkable.

Japan, however, was in a better position to concentrate on economic problems and to avoid international politics. Pressure upon Tokyo from the Soviet Union and its satellites was far less than on Bonn, especially in view of the constant tension in Berlin.

Now on a sound economic footing, the Japanese government is beginning to exert much greater influence in world affairs. The Nipponese appear ready to contribute toward the United Nations peace forces, have offered to mediate between Indonesia and Malaysia and to take part in a conference of Asian and African nations.

There is some marked dissatisfaction in the United States with the friendlier Japanese relations with Red China, including trade and an agreement on tourists. Washington is also dismayed over the increasing Japanese trade with North Viet Nam. On the other hand, many Japanese feel that their country has become too closely linked with America.

These problems are almost certain to be discussed when Prime Minister Eisaku Sato confers later this week with President Johnson and top officials of his administration.

Washington will be handicapped in offering objections to Tokyo's trade relations with the Reds, in the light of similar relations between Peking and the British and French.

Prime Minister Sato can bring up his own grievances. The American interest equalization tax has greatly slowed up long-term investments in Japanese enterprise, and Washington has refused to grant the Nipponese commercial air rights for flights across the country from the Pacific coast to New York.

Mr. Sato very likely will also try to clear the way for more exports by the booming automobile industry of his country, now fifth in world production behind the U. S., West Germany, England and France. His primary interest in this field, for the present at least, will be to attract American buyers in competition with European makers of small cars.

The Brothers Kennedy

Although brothers have served in the United States Senate at the same time once before, the swearing in of Robert and Ted Kennedy at the same time last week was a first for the United States Senate. It is also the first time that three brothers have at some time in their lives been members of the Senate. The Kennedy era did not end with the tragic events in Dallas more than a year ago.

One can easily be cynical about how the remaining brothers came to their present positions. Robert was well known in great part because his brother didn't worry too much about charges of nepotism but appointed him to the post of United States Attorney General. Ted's election to fill out John Kennedy's unexpired term in the Senate when the latter won the 1960 Presidential election was certainly a form of coat-tail clinging for a young man who had never held public office before. There can be reasonable charges of political expediency in Robert's decision to run for the Senate in New York state although his residency there was somewhat remote. And the election of both last fall can in part at least be charged to the national emotional binge over John Kennedy's assassination.

Nevertheless and in spite of it all, the Kennedy family has made and is continuing to make an impact upon United States history. The late President has not yet been judged in his official acts as much as for his tragic end. Ted has inaugurated no important legislation although Robert did finally bring Jimmy Hoffa to prison. The effect thus far has been more personal and immediate than permanent. But individuals with the ability to attract attention can often accomplish things their more prosaic if equally able brethren cannot. The challenge and the responsibility is heavy for both the Kennedy brothers.

In a year when the Republicans were crushed disastrously in the overwhelming vote for Lyndon Johnson, the possible competition for the White House in future years between the Kennedy and Johnson wings of the Democratic party can be extremely healthy. One disgusted conservative wrote that as of now Bobby Kennedy is the closest element in the nation to the two party system. The comment may not be too far wrong.

Congressional Investigation Of Airport Situation Needed

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Mr. Walter A. Olen, the founder of Wisconsin Central Airlines, who is still vitally interested in the Clintonville matter, has called to my attention your feature article of Dec. 20; he feels that you have stated the matter very well and accurately and in a very large degree, I agree. My only criticism or reservation being one of incompleteness as this is such a huge and involved situation.

I feel in particular, that the Clintonville situation exemplifies this entire matter more than in any other city in this entire proceeding and that the government agencies refuse to realize this fact.

The pitiful situation is that government agencies that are supposedly impartial and concerned with our nation's communities, its economy, the people, and our nation's future, have grossly failed in their responsibility by relying on theories, statistics, ideas and concepts and their failure to consider facts, history and experience. It is my impression that most of the individuals representing the governmental agencies in this matter have had absolutely no experience in the air transportation business or industry except for their association with the government.

The real mistakes that have been made by government agencies on the federal and the state level in the development of the air transportation situation, particularly in Wisconsin.

For instance we have numerous examples at the City of Clintonville where the state and federal agencies were in error.

At the very beginning of air transportation at Clintonville, the federal government and the city officials spent a considerable period of time extending over many years in choosing an ideal geographic site; actually, this was the one thing that they did that was accurate as we have an ideal situation, capable of expanding to almost any foreseeable size and on land that is excellent for airport development. Incidentally, there is practically no other city in this matter that can make that statement as practically all other airports have either been geographically changed or are experiencing some difficulty.

However, they made a bad mistake by attempting to plant quack grass, a so-called federal wonder grass, for runways, except that the State of Wisconsin would not permit it. Also we have suffered for many years until last year with only one runway which was then a popular concept that one runway would suffice and as a result, we have lost numerous flights due to cross winds.

In addition, there seemed to have been no particular plan or thought as to the location of airports as to distance between them and almost every time a new airport has been built in the area, it seems to creep closer to our airport.

I agree absolutely that this is a matter for a full and a complete Congressional investigation and that not only the air transportation problem but all transportation should be considered as it is absolutely vital to any particular area.

The continued hearings through the past five or six years have not only cost the City of Clintonville thousands of dollars, but it has very seriously injured our passenger generation potential inasmuch as every time that there is a hearing or a position taken by any government agency or any decision that is adverse to Clintonville, the entire surrounding area gives this a great deal of publicity and the result is that many people in this area then believe that our scheduled service has been discontinued or that it will be; it also weakens the will of some of the people to resist and to continue to fight. Although this does not affect the terrific generation of air cargo that Clintonville has always maintained, it does affect the passenger generation and this seems to be of prime importance as far as the government is concerned.

I was very appreciative of the accurate comments made in your article pertaining to the city of Clintonville. We feel that the story and the situation here is not only interesting but is very exemplary as not only in the matter of actual dollars expended from the City of Clintonville's funds, but on a per capita basis, I believe that we have established that air transportation is absolutely essential to this city and to its industry.

Hollywood Entertainer Really Liked AHS Play

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Recently I was at a performance at Appleton High School called Pillow Talk. I saw Three Cheers for Lee Schooni, who directed it. Jack Burroughs, who produced it.

The cast who played in it and the crew who worked backstage.

The two lead boys who played in it were excellent. The girls could have spoke a little louder but outside of that the play was very good.

I am an entertainer from the west coast and there is just one thing I don't understand. Why don't the people of Appleton give the young people more credit for what they do. I sat through the first performance and I have never seen such a dead audience. The second one was much better. Are they afraid to laugh and clap when these young people deserve it, or what?

I say give credit where it is due and these young people do deserve a lot of it. I understand they are planning that great play, South Pacific. How about giving them a standing ovation!

I'm sure they will deserve it.

Value of Youth Groups In Political Parties Is Being Questioned

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—One of the tacit secrets among the serious politicians of both political parties is that many of them have serious doubts about the usefulness of the "Young Democrats" and the "Young Republicans."

Some of the older regulars

in both parties, in fact, are convinced that the ostensible instruments for recruiting young people into the parties' working ranks are nuisances rather than boons and that they often do more harm than good. Yet they hesitate to say such things for the record, and thus it was mildly surprising the other day when the State Democratic Committee impatiently considered the notoriety recently acquired by the Young Democratic state organization and some of the committee members wondered aloud whether the organization is worth preserving.

Several members pointedly suggested that the organization might well be disbanded, although it is doubtful that they will follow through on the suggestions. The Democratic organization here is the victim of its own propaganda purposes, even as the Republicans have been over the years. On the face of it, the "Young" organization is a device for the recruitment of the young. That has a persuasive ring, whatever the realities.

PROBLEM APPARENT

The problem is that what the "young" party organizations do and say tends to become impressed upon the public mind as representing the regular party machines. The publicity about the eviction from an Eau Claire hotel recently of a Young Democratic group obviously embarrassed the Democratic Party as a whole as the spirited discussion at the regular state committee meeting showed.

The committee decided that it will have the game as well as the name, as it adopted a proposal to put the youth wing in a virtual straitjacket. There will be an "adult" politician on hand at future state conventions as "parliamentarian," which is a polite way of saying that he will run the meeting. There will be representatives of the regular organization sitting with all of the Young Democratic convention committees, which implies, at the least, some censorship of their work. The committee also "subpoenaed" the president of the Young Democrats to appear in Madison soon to be told directly that he has displeased and discomfited the regular party and that he had better behave more circumspectly in the future.

All of which, as somebody observed, has put this youth wing to the party on probation.

GUP TOO

Such matters are not confined to Democratic politics. Republicans have had their own troubles with the Young Republican organization, which is just about as implausible as its counterpart in the rival party. The age rules are faintly absurd, for one thing. There have been times when the age qualifications were changed for no more pressing reason than the desire of an aging "youth" to run for office in the organization.

It would be hard to quarrel with the idea that political organization of high school and college students who have not yet attained voting age is a useful and instructive experience for them.

But as Mrs. Carl Lee of Madison observed to her fellow Democratic committee members, there is no evident reason why a person who is old enough to be married and to have several children should not engage in politics as an adult if he has the taste and energy for such an avocation.

The presumption is that the Young Democratic organization now under fire is financially self-supporting. The Young Republicans were not always successful in that respect. At least one recent Republican state chairman used to grumble with considerable impatience that his Young Republican division was an expensive dependent.

Old-Time Handy Man Is Disappearing Breed

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

The handy man who for many years has taken care of a half-dozen houses in the country, including ours, up and quit this winter. He bought a farm and will have no more time for odd jobs and caretaking.

There aren't any others to be

found around in this era of specialization. The old-fashioned handy man is a vanishing species: the fellow who did everything pretty well has been replaced by the expert who does one thing poorly, expensively, and at his own dilatory convenience.

This is progress, I suppose. At least, we are told that specialization has given us the glories of modern living, that the precise division of labor permits society to reach an ever-increasing level of abundance.

An ever-increasing level of frustration, too. I spent the holidays some years ago with old friends who had just moved from Manhattan to a sprawling house in Connecticut, where the children "had room to grow up in." The children grew up fine, but the parents rapidly became depleted, in substance and in spirit.

They required, at regular intervals the services of five different plumbers, none of whom would have anything to do with the others. There was a plumber for the water pump, for the chlorinator, for the septic tank, and for the sump pump. There was also the regular plumbing plumber, who repaired only the ordinary plumbing fixtures, more or less.

In addition, they were (and are) continually beholden to the moods and schedules of the roof and ceiling man, the electric wiring man, the man who cleans the burner, the man who cleans the chimney, the gardener, the pruner, the plowman and the gasoline man.

None of these essential functions can be performed by any but an accredited specialist in the field: the man who handles the sump pump professes profound ignorance of the water pump and the septic tank, while the pruner will not plow in winter, nor will the man who cleans the burner clean the chimney.

Last summer, one of my boys accidentally broke a small pane in a window off the front porch. The handy man was sick, and so I made a few calls. But the carpenter couldn't do it, the glazier had no time for such a small job, and the spray kept sailing through the cardboard I had taped to the window until the handy man recovered a week later.

Now he is gone for good, or for bad. Like the whooping crane, he is fast disappearing from the national scene; a generation from now, handy men may be on exhibit, stuffed in the museums. "Homo handiensis," the identifying card will inform the children, "once prevalent in the country, now extinct, a companion to the Great Auk and the Dodo. Last seen putting a window in Northern Wisconsin, circa 1944."

West's Skating Park a Failure

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Jan. 7, 1865.

The Skating Park, we are very sorry to say, is confessed to be a failure. Mr. Edward West has expended over $400 on it, endeavoring to secure a place for the healthful and invigorating exercise of skating for our citizens. Now, despite his care and heavy expense, he must lose it all.

The disappointment to our readers is, of course, considerable but it is nothing to that felt by Mr. West, not so much for the cash expended as the natural chagrin in disappointing the people.

The water breaks through the under part of the banks and it is impossible to prevent it.

Those who have purchased and paid for tickets can have their money back by applying to those from whom they received their tickets.

We hope Mr. West won't give up the enterprise, but next summer provide another Park which we are satisfied the people will generously sustain.

Joseph Sauter of Sacred Heart Church parish, Appleton, was elected president of the Outagamie County CYO Deansery units. Other officers elected were Charles Weber, Kaukauna, vice president; Gretchen Banning, Kaukauna, secretary; and Dolores Jacobs, Appleton, treasurers.

Chosen to represent Outagamie County in the annual state rural art exhibition at Madison were two oil paintings by Mrs. Marschke Lembecke, Appleton, four oil paintings by Iris Furness, route 3, Oshkosh, and a wood carving by Michael C. Heimermann, route 2, Appleton. Elmer H. Jennings, president of Thilmany Pulp and Paper Company, was to speak at the dinner meeting of the sought, but it also prevented the Democrats from taking over the chairmanship of that body. Because James Smaby of La Crosse, a Democratic appointee, declined to vote for the ouster of Rahr, the other Democrats of the commission were unable to take over the command in spite of a nominal four to two vote superiority.

Commissioners are not paid, but are reimbursed for their expenses. The offices carry great prestige in outdoors and conservation circles. The commission rules the big conservation department and its numerous administrative services, and has broad delegated powers from the legislature to establish regulations in hunting, fishing, trapping and other fields.

Gov. Knowles has the opportunity later in the year to put Republicans in working control of the body, and is expected to use it.

The terms of John Lynch of Gordon, Douglas County, and Paul Olson of Madison, both chosen six years ago by former Gov. Nelson, expire in July and under the law Knowles can name their successors and submit them to the senate as early as March.

Lynch, a veteran of the Wisconsin Conservation Congress, wanted to be elected chairman of the commission a year ago, but Rahr continued to hold the gavel when the election ended in a tied vote of three to three.

Two Missing Under Fallen Mountainside

HOPE, B.C. (AP) — Bulldozers tried today to dent a 100-foot wall of broken mountain that buried a highway and became a graveyard for four persons over the weekend.

Two bodies still were missing as searchers probed the devastation, where tons of earth crashed down into a valley, rumbled across its half-mile width and swept up the other side early Saturday.

Volunteer rescuers, who uncovered two victims Sunday, worked with one eye on the mountainside above them. Tiny clusters of rock tumbled intermittently down the slope. The victims were killed as they tried to extract a convertible trapped in a small slide that preceded the mal. one.

They were identified as Vance Beck of Penticton, B.C.; Thomas Starchuk of Aldergrove, B.C.; Dennis Arlitt, 23, also of Penticton, and Mary Kalmakoff, 21, of Shoreacres, B.C. The bodies of Arlitt and Miss Kalmakoff still are missing.

The mountainside sheared off under the weight of deep snows and the effect of a sudden thaw. It came down 10 miles east of Hope, 110 miles east of Vancouver.

Car Breaks Ice, Two Drowned

DELAVAN (AP)—Thomas E. Holt, 27, and Orville W. Lindo, 58, both of Aurora, Ill., drowned Sunday when their automobile broke through the ice on Lake Delavan and sank about 200 feet from shore.

Waukesha County Coroner John Griebel said Holt's body was recovered by divers and Lindo's body was in the car which was raised from about 30 feet of water Sunday night.

The sheriff's department said that it was not known if the men had been ice fishing. Temperatures in the area were near zero, after unseasonably warm weather most of last week. Ice fishermen had been warned that there might be weak spots on the lake.

Vegetable Vendors' Pachiderm Problems

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Vegetable vendors in a Naples street market have formed a committee to demand payments for damages they say they suffered from an invasion of elephants.

The elephants, described as 10 or more and very hungry, were being paraded to their circus grounds from a civic ceremony Sunday.

The vegetable vendors complain the elephants broke ranks when they passed the tempting stands of the street market, and devoured everything in reach.

Cigarettes Kill People, Official Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Emerson Foote, chairman of the National Interagency Council on Smoking and Health, said today that "cigarettes kill people — and they kill people in very large numbers."

In a speech prepared for a meeting sponsored by the council, Foote said:

"The United States Public Health Service, knows this, the American Cancer Society knows this, The American Heart Society knows this. The American Public Health Association knows this. The National Tuberculosis Association knows this. The royal College of Physicians of Great Britain knows this. . . . Physicians all over the world know this."

Catastrophe Foote asserted it can be said with certainty that cigarette smoking kills at least 125,000 persons annually, and that the death toll might even be as high as 300,000.

"Either figure represents a national catastrophe," he said, adding:

"There are, of course, many hazards in life but in peacetime there is nothing else like this (cigarette smoking) hazard — not automobiles or anything else anyone can think of."

Foote also declared that "the amount of illness and suffering short of death, caused by cigarettes is truly a staggering proportion."

Foote, 57, resigned Dec. 1 as board chairman of McCann-Erickson Inc. of New York — which claims to be the world's second largest advertising agency.

Committee Sought To Set Course for Republican Party

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders proposed today a Republican coordinating committee to chart the party's course, and named as its top officer Republican National Chairman Dean Burch "or whoever may occupy his office in the future."

In the first performance of the new "Ev and Jerry show," Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and House Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan denied that the naming of Burch would have any effect on his tenure as national chairman.

Johnson, Pearson Meeting Scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will meet with Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson at Johnson's Texas ranch this weekend, the White House announced today.

Pearson, who is vacationing in Florida, will arrive at the ranch about Friday afternoon. The appeal was submitted to Reynolds during a meeting with Gleason and the 14-men labor policy committee of the New York Shipping Association.

Scores of Vessels Stranded by Strike

He had called the contract the best in the 72-year history of the union.

Asst. Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds said Sunday that the New York stalemate was caused by failure of the union membership to understand the contract terms. Reynolds said he thought the strike would fail.

Associates of Gleason said the union president would seek meetings of all the union's locals here today or Tuesday to try to "sell" the contract and get another vote on it.

Reynolds went to Washington Sunday night to report to Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz but he was due back in New York today for a scheduled meeting with the ILA's 23-men executive council. Gleason called in the officials from the affected ports for what he described as a strategy meeting.

Before leaving for Washington, Reynolds said: "If any one has any illusion that there will be changes in the contract, it should be dispelled. The bargaining process is over."

The shipping industry here asked Sunday that President Johnson and Congress put pressure on the union to submit the dispute to compulsory arbitration. The appeal was submitted to Reynolds during a meeting with Gleason and the 14-men labor policy committee of the New York Shipping Association.

Alexander P. Chopin, chairman of the employer association, said the action should take effect when the strike began to threaten the national economy. He did not say when that might happen.

New York Vote The proposed New York contract was rejected by a vote of 8,722 to 7,957. There are 24,000 ILA members in the port of New York.

The main rank-and-file objection here appeared to be the clause providing for gradual reduction of the size of work gangs from 20 to 17 men over the term of the four-year agreement. Employers have sought for years to get the gang size cut because of automation of much of the work.

The employers, in return for the gang size cut, agreed to guarantee each man 1,600 hours of work a year, thus assuring them of a wage base of $5,860.

The proposed contract also included a wage and benefits package of $32 a week in steps over four years. The base wage under the expired contract here was $3.26 an hour.

The strike may result in an embargo on export freight moving into the port of New York and some other ports, so as to prevent pileups of cargo.

New York More than 30 ships trapped in port. No passenger ships scheduled to leave today. The United States, operated by the United States Lines, was due late today from Europe with 1,013 passengers. Supervisory personnel are expected to help passengers with their luggage.

Miami, Fla. About 700 longshoremen in Miami and Port Everglades, Fla., are scheduled to strike at 8 p.m. Eastern Standard Time tonight.

Judge Henderson of Miami, president of ILA Local 1418, said Sunday night that the South Atlantic district of the union had set tonight as the strike deadline before the ILA executive council set 12:01 a.m. today. He said the order to strike at a later time came from district president Ralph Massey. Shipping is light at this time in Florida, and only a few small freighters were in Miami over the weekend.

Thomas J. Burke, southeastern district vice president, said at Atlanta Ga., that the orders were to strike at 12:01 a.m. in the district. A Charleston, S.C., local official said his men were adhering to the 12:01 a.m. deadline "regardless of what Henderson said."

Texas The strike officially hit Texas ports at the same time it hit New York. Among the ports are Galveston, Houston, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Orange, Corpus Christi and Brownsville. Ten ships were stranded in Houston and four at Galveston.

New Orleans In New Orleans, where 10,000 longshoremen are affected, almost all ships got out of port before the strike.

Philadelphia The strike began at the deadline in Philadelphia, where 5,000 men are affected.

Boston About 4,500 men on strike in Boston. They are among 11,000 in New England. Several ships left the port Sunday night before the strike, but several others were stranded.

Savannah, Ga. The port of Savannah was cleared of ships Sunday to avoid tieups. Charles Pidgeon, management representative for Savannah in negotiations, said: "We are caught on the horns of something created in New York."

Albany, N.Y. At Albany, on the Hudson River, a Finnish freighter unloaded more than 1,000 tons of wood, paper and pulp Sunday at an overtime cost of about $2,200.

Hampton Roads, Va. A strike by the 2,000 longshoremen at Hampton Roads will affect about 34,000 other Virginia workers and cost $230,000 a day, a Hampton Roads official estimated. Several ships were caught in port by the strike.

Baltimore At Baltimore, snow and rain virtually halted weekend longshore work and 31 ships were strikebound.

Surgeon General Says One In Four Men Quit Smoking

Survey Also Shows Fewer Women Using Tobacco Than Year Ago

WASHINGTON (AP) — Surgeon General Luther L. Terry said today nearly one out of four adult men has given up cigarette smoking since 1962.

And, he said, surveys by the Public Health Service show smoking among women has declined — to a smaller degree but “the first time on record in which the trend has been downward.”

“If smoking habits had continued at the level of three years ago, there would be about 3.5 million more smokers than there actually are today,” Terry said in an address prepared for delivery to the recently formed National Interagency Council on Smoking and Health.

Attributed to Report

He attributed much of the decline to the report of a year ago today that labeled cigarette smoking a hazard to health, associated it with several diseases and said it far “outweighs all other factors” as a cause of lung disease.

Still, the Health Service said, cigarette smoking remains a “national catastrophe.” An interagency spokesman said it accounts for at least 125,000 and possibly as many as 300,000 American deaths each year.

Terry conceded that his “preliminary” evidence on reduced consumption does not tally with the trends indicated by tobacco warehouse shipments and tax returns. These point to a resurgence of cigarette smoking after a pronounced decline last spring.

Challenge Charge

The surgeon general said the decline found by the Health Service and other evidence directly challenge “the charge that ‘nothing has really happened’ and that the smoking habits of the nation are right back where they were” before last year’s report by his advisory committee.

The council, his forum today, is not an official government agency. Its members include representatives of the Health Service and of 16 federal and private agencies interested in health and education, among them the American Cancer Society.

Terry said a random nationwide sampling last fall of 3,500 American households found — on the basis of a preliminary analysis — that:

1. The number of male cigarette smokers in the population required by law to put a “clearly-worded warning message” in all cigarette advertisements in newspapers and magazine — and at the end of all cigarette commercials on television and radio.

Education Plans

5. Dr. Malcolm H. Merrill, California’s state health director, reported that educational and other action “to combat cigarette smoking” is very much in evidence in 45 states and the District of Columbia.

He said “thousands of children and adults are being exposed to fresh, vital information about the health hazards of cigarette smoking.”

6. Foote said “evidence confirming the lethal effects of cigarette smoking now amounts to a tidal wave — coming from all countries of the world, on both sides of the Iron Curtain.”

He said the “totally unique health hazard” from cigarettes is worse than any single hazard to life and health, short of war.

Cites Evidence

Terry, in citing the new statistical evidence of reduced consumption, declared:

“What is equally heartening to me, however, is the national concern which has been expressed about the problem and the national action that has been generated.”

He said door-to-door interview studies by his agency on smoking habits knowledge and attitudes of the general population revealed:

1. An estimated 18 million living Americans have sworn off cigarettes.

Smoking Harmful

2. Sixty-nine per cent of the people interviewed voiced the view that cigarette smoking could cause lung cancer, and a large majority of the cigarette smokers surveyed indicated they believed smoking to be harmful in various ways.

3. Seven out of 10 persons questioned agreed that “cigarette smoking is enough of a health hazard for something to be done about it” — and only one out of six disagreed.

4. Nine out of 10 said they favored more public education on “the health hazards of cigarette smoking, for both adults and children.”

5. Four out of five said they “were opposed to the practice of featuring athletes and celebrities in cigarette advertising.”

6. Eight out of 10 — including seven out of 10 smokers — said they believed that a statement on tar and nicotine content should be required on each cigarette package.

The Post-Crescent A8

Terry declared a separate study among 10,000 senior medical, dental and osteopathic students has revealed this:

“Compared to the general male population of comparable age, senior medical students, for example, show far less tendency to take up cigarettes — 55 per cent as against 83. And among medical students who take up the habit, there is a far greater tendency to quit.”

Have the Facts

“This suggests,” said Terry, “that in groups which hold health important, have the facts, and understand the health implications of the facts, the cigarette habit is reversible.”

The experience of a year, in brief, demonstrates that a deeply ingrained personal habit can be changed where the facts are made widely known.

“I might add that, so far, most of this has been accomplished through the mass communications media. I doubt that any health message has ever reached so many in so short a time.”

He also declared that additional data from three long-range studies by other groups — including a study of American war veterans — “strengthen the evidence that people who stop smoking are greatly benefited, even if they have smoked for many years.”

A Public Health Service spokesman gave this explanation for Terry’s estimate on the decrease in the number of male smokers:

1. In 1962, various surveys indicated that a fraction over 17 per cent of the male population over 21 already were ex-smokers of cigarettes.

2. The newest survey indicates an additional 7 per cent in this age group have become ex-smokers of cigarettes since 1962.

Thus, he said, the total percentage is now about 25 per cent — or about one in four. By the same figuring, he said, about 9 or 10 per cent of women over 21 are now ex-smokers of cigarettes — including 2 or 3 per cent who swore off since 1962.

Texas Couple Adopts Each Other’s Children—Total 15

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP) — In the eyes of the law, the 15 children of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Riley all belong to the same family now.

It took a king-sized adoption ceremony because nine of the children are the mother’s by a previous marriage and six were born to Riley’s first wife.

Except for the legal proceedings, the two families merged Oct. 3 when Riley, 43, and the former Jane Morris, 38, were married. Riley’s first wife died last year. Mrs. Morris became a widow several years ago.

Closer Ties

During a rarely festive holiday period, each adopted the other’s children Dec. 23 at a court session conducted by Dist. Judge Sam B. Hall Sr.

“Actually there were many reasons for adoption of each other’s children,” said Mrs. Riley. “We all felt this would be the best way to form a close family tie.”

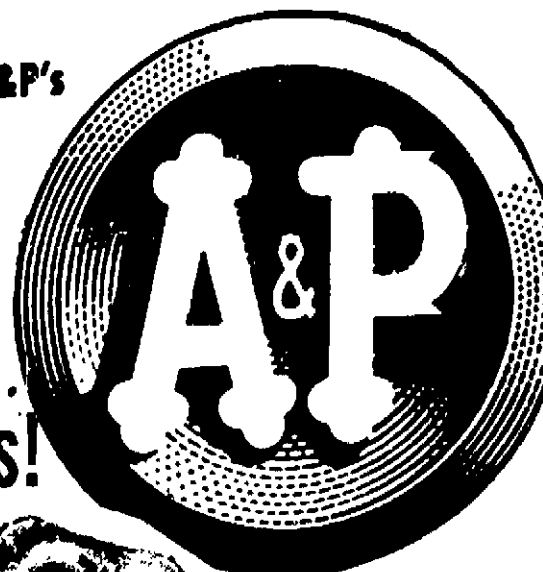

Riley is operations manager for the Thiokol Chemical Corp. near this East Texas city.

His and Mrs. Riley’s children are William Jr., 20; Lyn and Lea, 19; Nancy, 17; etty, 15; Mark, 14; Laura, 13; Mary, 12; Bill, 11; Carol, 9; Cathy and Anna, 8; Jimmy, 7; Tommy, 3, and Jeannie, 10 months.

More Space

Four bedrooms in the original Riley home weren’t enough, so he built an annex for the older children, linked to the main house by a breezeway and car-

Give Supplies

"Give the South Vietnamese all the supplies they need and whatever aid they need to bomb North Vietnamese supply bases," he said. "If necessary, bomb them with U.S. troops, planes and ammunition."

"We must adopt a policy to win the war and then build our strategy around that," Bennett said. "This may involve sending in combat units or it may involve crossing into the north using Vietnamese units."

Sparkman and Sen. Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho, agreed that to destroy Communist supply

Aiken counseled against commitment of U.S. combat troops or expansion of the war — unless the United States is prepared for all-out war including the use of nuclear weapons.

He saw no way to negotiate a settlement. "We can't," Aiken said. "It's not our war."

Sparkman was wary of neutralization, saying it "would almost certainly lead to a Communist takeover eventually."

But Church, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., Sen. Olin D. Johnston, D-S.C. and Sen. Er-

"I would favor dumping this baby in the laps of the U.N. and would support use of American troops under U.N. auspices," Gruening said.

"We should stop making war there for U.S. interests and stop making an American puppet out of South Viet Nam," said Morse.

"I suggest," Johnston said, "the United Nations handle it, set up a buffer zone between North and South Viet Nam, and police it."

"Other nations should help pay for the fight to defend South Viet Nam," he said.

Most Senators Support Course in Viet Nam, Ask More Effectiveness

WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — War-often reluctantly, most of the senators ready to prescribe a course in South Viet Nam today use current U.S. policy — but called for efforts to make American military backing more effective.

Many of them saw it as a temporary measure, a prologue to negotiations aimed at settling the guerrilla warfare in the communist-beleaguered nation.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., offered this terse prescription: "Continue present policy until we can negotiate from a position of strength."

"Our present policy," argued Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, "is adding us toward the same calamity as befell the French 10 years ago."

Asked Talks
He called for negotiations now, pointing toward a neutralization that would be guaranteed by the United Nations or a special international commission.

There were conflicting undercurrents of Senate sentiment for outright U.S. withdrawal or for expansion of the U.S.-backed warfare. But those views came from a handful of senators.

Most of the legislators who responded to an Associated Press survey shunned the idea of pulling out, of committing U.S. combat troops or of extending the war into Communist North Viet Nam.

One Republican, J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware, came up with a new formula. He suggested a U.S. call for Vietnamese elections within three or four months to choose a government supported by the people.

Pending Election
"Our future conduct in South Viet Nam would depend on whether or not the new government wanted us to keep our assistance or to get out," he said.

Pending an election, Boggs said, the United States should continue its present military and economic assistance.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana broke for the consensus when he offered this view of current U.S. policy.

"For the present, we have no other choice which in my judgment would fit the needs of the situation."

He added the United States should stand ready to negotiate or neutralization of South Viet Nam. "If it contains promise of just and guaranteed solution," Mansfield said, "if not, it can be discarded."

Extend War
Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., suggested extension of the war to Communist North Viet Nam and held out at the same time hope for a negotiated settlement.

Tower said present policies are losing the war, and he declared it will take new initiatives to reverse the course of a guerrilla struggle.

That, he said, means action to shake off Communist supply support from the north.

"If a stalemate situation develops or the Vietnamese

Robert Stevenson selected Allis-Chalmers board chairman.

MILWAUKEE (AP)— President Robert S. Stevenson has been selected chairman of the board of the Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co.

The chairman's position was abandoned more than 20 years ago.

Stevenson, 58, who has headed the firm since 1955, will be succeeded as president by Willis Scholl, 56, who has been an executive vice-president for several years.

Stevenson will continue as chief executive officer of the company, while Scholl will be chief operations officer.

Scholl started with the firm in 1936 while Stevenson joined it in 1933.

Valley Iron, Appleton, is a subsidiary of Allis-Chalmers.

achieve a momentum toward victory, then meaningful negotiations might result in an acceptable settlement," he said.

All told, 86 of the 100 senators responded to the survey.

In general terms, 30 of them suggested that the United States stick to its present course, at least for the present. Many of them called at the same time for steps to improve the results, stressing government reforms and stability in South Viet Nam.

Three others talked of strengthening Democratic government in the Southeast Asian nation, but took no stand on U.S. military or diplomatic measures.

Ten senators called for a negotiated settlement now, some joining Church in a call for international supervision.

Three suggested the United States and South Viet Nam step up the struggle, moving it north into Communist territory.

Seek Withdrawal
Three spoke out for U.S. withdrawal.

Eight indicated they had no suggestions, and 24 refused to comment at all.

Those who did offer suggestions proposed them in varying terms which defied precise man-by-man cataloging. Many senators who responded to the survey insisted that their names not be used.

Some Republicans who declined to be quoted by name renewed an allegation voiced by Barry Goldwater, the 1964 Republican presidential nominee, during his campaign — that President Johnson has not told Congress or the nation what is going on in South Viet Nam and there should be a detailed accounting from the White House.

Best Information
Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., insisted that Johnson and his advisers have "the best information available to anyone."

"I have confidence in their decisions," Sparkman said. "I think we should back them up."

The Senate itself is investigating the situation, through its Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees. Some legislators said they would await those inquiries before deciding what course they favor.

Sens. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas and Richard B. Russell of Georgia, the committee chairmen, declined comment on the situation now.

Russell already has said "we made a terrible mistake getting involved in Viet Nam." But he added he does not know "just how we can get out now."

Tiger's Back
Some senators reflected the frustration of many Americans at the continuing struggle in Viet Nam. "I don't know how yo. get off a tiger's back," said a senator who asked that he not be identified.

Another said he shares with many citizens "the feeling that maybe we ought to say the hell with it and pull out," but realizes that would probably mean a Communist takeover.

Sen. Milward L. Simpson, R-Wyo., put the dilemma in more formal terms:

"I do not know precisely what changes should be brought about in American policy in Viet Nam, but I do know that we can neither withdraw nor cling to the precarious status quo which is causing us to lose the war in which so many Americans already have died."

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., disagreed.

"There is no stable government," he said, "only chaos and disorder."

"Therefore, I am prone to withdraw without any ifs or ands," Ellender declared.

"I'd favor a settlement based on neutralization or to pull out," said Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va.

"The situation in Viet Nam is impossible unless a stable government can be established," Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said. "I don't know how long we can wait on this."
